Both landlords and tenants are entitled to vote upon signing their applications for allotment contracts signing the applications, is sufficient to be entitled to vote, regardless of whether or not it is completely filled out. In the election qualified growers will elect one community representative, who is to be a member of the board of directors of the County Wheat Production control association and two other growers, who, with the first as chairman, are to be members of a permanent community committee of three.

"It goes without saying that, in the election of their three community committeemen, growers should choose the most competent and best qualified wheat growers of the community. PROF. F. A. KLUTTZ AND FAMILY AT PRINCETON

The "Star" class of the Methodist church at Princeton held a reunion of former members and superintendents on Sunday, September 17, during the regular Sunday school hour. Mrs. Alvin Miller is teacher of this wide-awake, earnest bunch of young people. Prof. Elburn Gantt, a native born young educator of that section of our county, is Sunday school superintendent. He is also superintendent of the Princeton independent school with a force of eight or ten teachers under him. He is a son of M. C. Gantt of Princeton, whose deceased wife, the mother of Prof. Gantt, was formerly Miss Lillie Wilson of McKinney. A number of inspiring songs were rendered on the program led by Claude Raymond Houser, another young native of Princeton. Mrs. F. A. Kluttz of McKinney led in prayer. A feature of the program was a solo by Mr. Houser with Miss Marceline Wilson at the piano.

F. A. Kluttz of McKinney served as superintendent of the Sunday school at Princeton for more than ten years, but who, in recent years, has lived in McKinney. He responded with a short talk in which he emphasized the fact that the leaders of the Sunday school now were regular attendants in the same school when he was superintendent. The young people's class is taught by Prof. Reneau Huddleston; the Men's class is taught by Joe Miller, who is another one of the Princeton teachers. Fred Johnson is secretary of this active Sunday school.

The Star class, as above stated, is taught by Mrs. Alvin Miller, who sponsored the reunion. Mrs. L. R. Dalton is teacher of the class for older ladies, but invited Mrs. F. A. Kluttz of McKinney, a former teacher, to teach the lesson on this Sunday.

Mrs. Albert Miller is teacher of the primary class. Rev. Mr. Chambers, pastor, was absent at another appointment on his work much to the regret of all. Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Lowe, who have served long and faithfully in this church, were not able to be present on account of Mrs. Lowe's illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Slaughter and children of Melissa were present. Mrs. Slaughter was formerly Miss Annie Laura Wilson, daughter of the late J. J. (Book) Wilson of McKinney. Mrs. Raymond Littrell was also present from Chambersville. She was formerly Miss Irma Gantt and was reared in this Princeton Sunday school, where her childhood and young womanhood activities in the church all took place.

This Princeton Sunday school has lately taken on new life and increased attendance.

Accompanying Mr. and Mrs. Kluttz on their Princeton visit, were their two children, Miss Nola Bess and John Kluttz.

J. S. (Sol) Dubow, a highly esteemed Princeton citizen, transacted business in McKinney Wednesday. He made a fairly good grain crop and also corn and is now gathering an average cotton crop.

URGES PAYMENT DELINQUENT TAXES BEFORE SEPT. 30

County Tax Collector N. D. Ready calls attention to the fact that September 30 is the last day to pay delinquent taxes under the special act of the legislature, requiring only 1 per cent penalty. This act of the Texas legislature makes it possible for taxpayers to pay up delinquent taxes, regardless how long they have been due, with the addition of only 1 per cent. After September 30, Mr. Ready points out, there will be an additional penalty assessed. Mr. Ready says that quite a few people are paying up their back taxes and that he expects many more will come in for this purpose during the remainder of this month.

They will be heard for the first time this season the night of the Plano game, here Friday night, September 29.

While in Blue Ridge Monday night with the fair boosters, this editor met up with Mr. and Mrs. J. O. The date will be set in the next few days and will be announced in these papers. Blue Ridge always has a fine community fair, and they are planning on having an even better one this year. Blue Ridge is planning to come down to this city in large numbers for the sixteenth annual Collin County Free fair in this city, which begins Monday and continues for four days.

M. H. S. COACHES ASK CO-OPERATION OF LOCAL FANS

The McKinney High School Lions' football squad under Coaches Noble J. Atkins and W. R. Hollis are working hard each afternoon this week, preparing for a difficult season's schedule, which opens next week when they meet the Plano High School Wildcats on Friday night, September 29, in this city. Because of the importance of these workouts and the workouts in the future, Coach Atkins is asking McKinney fans to help him make these practice sessions as secret as possible. Therefore, the coaches are making a set of rules concerning visitors at their practices.

Fathers of the boys playing, the faculty and the press will be allowed. Those who are not listed in the above three groups and all other fans will have an opportuning of seeing the team in action Sept. 29. Coach Atkins believes that he and Prof. Hollis will have a scrapping team this year, but they will need the full benefit of each afternoon's practice session. Therefore, they are making this request, with all due respect to the McKinney High fans' loyalty and interest.

GEORGE INGRAM PASSES AWAY IN DALLAS

Walter B. Wilson, one of the editors of this paper, received a telephone message late Tuesday evening from Mrs. Elizabeth Lochridge (formerly Miss Lizzie Ingram) that her brother, George Ingram, had just died at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon at his late home, 2927 Model street, Dallas, after a ten months' illness. He is survived by a wife and one child, Clara Belle, who is herself seriously ill. Other survivors are Noel Ingram of Dallas, Jim Ingram of Blanket, Brown county, Texas; Mrs. Pearl Graves of Fort Worth and Mrs. Elizabeth Lochridge of Dallas. Another brother, John Ingram, died about three years ago and was buried at McKinney. George Ingram had a son, Milton Eugene Ingram, who died November 8, 1929, in the Livermore Government hospital, in California, at the age of 39 years. This deceased son was a gallant soldier in the World war and was an invalid as a result of being severely wounded and gassed while on duty in Northern France.

Burial In McKinney Thursday.

Funeral services for George Ingram were held at 10:00 o'clock tomorrow (Thursday) morning, September 21, at his late home in Dallas after which the remains were brought to McKinney for interment in Pecan Grove cemetery.

A large number of the old home friends of the deceased were at the cemetery when the body arrived. George Ingram was born in McKinney here, where he spent more than forty years of his life, moving to Dallas twenty-one years ago. For seven years he was a member of the McKinney volunteer fire department and made a good record as such. George was born in McKinney, August 13, 1867, and was, therefore, just past his 69th birthday when he died.

Old Collin Family.

The Ingram family were among the earliest settlers at McKinney, coming here in 1848, the year that the town was founded. George Ingram's father was Alex Ingram and his mother, Mary Herndon England, both of whom died in McKinney and are buried here. Alex Ingram came from Cadiz, Trigg county, Kentucky, to McKinney, where he continued to live until his death which occurred just fifty years ago. His wife was Mary Herndon, a sister of the late Josh Herndon. Alex Ingram's second wife was a sister of the late J. W. (Wes) Morris of McKinney. George Ingram's first wife was Miss Mattie Moore, also a native of McKinney, a sister of the late Jim Moore. She died twenty-four years ago. The old Ingram homestead in McKinney was located on South Kentucky street, where it intersects with West Davis street, just across the street to the south of Emerson cotage.

W. S. Mounger and Rev. Gerald Bryant of Culleoka were soliciting funds in McKinney Tuesday to help build a new winter tabernacle for the lately organized Apostolic church there. According to Mr. Mounger, fairly good results were had. He stated that a big protracted meeting was held there this summer at which sometimes there were as many as 2,000 people present. Rev. H. M. Firtle, Methodist of Trenton, Texas, accepted an invitation during the meeting for a debate with Rev. Mr. Bryant. The latter also debated one time during the meeting with Rev. E. B. Douglass, a minister of the Church of Christ.

Mrs. M. F. Wheeler left Saturday for Hillsboro for a few days' visit with her sons, Robert and Frank Wheeler, who are in business at that city.

Miss Allyene Skelton attended the Austin college-Texas Christian university football game at Sherman Friday night.

Henry Wilson Bush and Cecil Davis of Allen were McKinney visitors.

Collin County Free Fair Grounds Scene Of Busy Activity

Fair Grounds, Coliseum, Live Stock Barns And Horse Show Arena Are Being Put In A-1 Condition This Week.

The Collin County Free fair grounds, city coliseum and live stock barns here are becoming a beehive of activity as preparation goes forward for the sixteenth annual Collin County Free fair to be held in McKinney Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week, September 25, 26, 27 and 28.

The coliseum, the live stock barns and the horse show arena are being put in excellent shape this week for the big exposition. Exhibit booths are being built, the fair grounds are being cleaned off and livestock barns fixed up in A-1 condition, stalls worked over and other arrangements completed for taking care of the large amount of fine, purebred cattle, hogs, sheep and horses and mules, always exhibited by Collin county people at the fair.

The live stock arena, the scene of the big horse show, is being put in tip-top shape with erection of grandstands, bleacher seats and building of more reserved and box seats.

Already fair week is in the air, with only four more days remaining until the opening gong on this big county-wide exposition. People all over the county are talking up the event and preparing to be here to view the exhibits, the educational displays and the big horse show with its beautiful animals.

Officials Pleased.

The officials, President A. H. Eubanks, Secretary W. Hammond Moore and all others, are this week completing final arrangements and details. The exhibits in the coliseum this year promise to be the best ever with all lines—agricultural, horticultural, canning, curios, arts, poultry, club work, vocational agriculture and others—crammed with fine exhibits. The same holds true for the livestock division.

Polo Games.

The polo games, one of the funniest contests McKinney has ever witnessed, will be held each afternoon the first three days of the fair, with the horse show the same three nights. The first night will be 'Collin County Night,' with Collin county horse fanciers and kiddies showing off their steeds. The next two nights will be 'open to the world'—and the southwest will send some of its finest horses, which will bring joy to the hearts of Collinites and especially the horse show officials who can find no words to express their delight at what the horse show promises to be.

With the horse show headlining the entertainment, the [illegible] backing it up and the educational features to offer, the fair should be the best in this county and the best free county fair in the history of Texas.

JAYCEES HOLD MEETING HERE TUESDAY NIGHT

One of the best attendances of the year was present at the regular semi-monthly meeting of the McKinney Junior Chamber of Commerce held Tuesday night in the Chamber of Commerce rooms. The meeting was the first to be held since the Jaycee booster contest got under way, and the results of the work of these active young business men was noticeable in the big turnout of members. The three co-captains of the sides in this contest are: W. W. Hall, W. W. Taylor and Tom Pollard; Choice McClure, Byron England and Guy Walden.

President Earl Walker was in charge of the program calling for reports from various outstanding committees.

Tells of Good-Will Trips.

Choice McClure, chairman of the series of good-will trips boosting the sixteenth annual Collin County Free fair reported that three of these visits had already been made and that they had been accorded a fine reception. The final trip will be made Thursday night of this week to Weston, Celina, Prosper and Frisco.

Marion Bozeman, past president of the organization and a state Jaycee director, called attention to the State Junior Chamber of Commerce convention which meets Friday and Saturday in Longview. W. P. Abernathy, a past president of the local organization, is on the program at Longview.

The booster contest was discussed. Points in this contest will be given for attendance, for payment of dues and for new members. This contest will continue for about six weeks or until December 12.

Encourage Farm Youth.

A motion was made and carried that the organization change the name of the county affairs committee to a farm youth movement with Jack P. McCullough as chairman. The purpose of this committee will be to encourage the youth of this county in raising more and better livestock and farm products.

President Earl Walker read a letter sent out by Victor Bolling, a young attorney of Mineral Wells, on the subject of additional taxation. He suggested that instead of the legislature levying additional taxes upon the people, machinery be set up to collect delinquent taxes. He pointed out in his letter that approximately $120,000,000 state, county and municipal taxes are delinquent and that if one-third of this is collected there will be no need of additional taxation. The local Junior Chamber of Commerce went on record as favoring this proposal and so notified the state organization.

To Sponsor Football Game.

President Earl Walker also called attention to the fact that Fitzhugh Newsome, chairman of the local athletic council had again requested the Jaycees to sponsor the ticket sale for the first football game of the season to be played here Friday night, September 29, between McKinney and Plano.

Drum and Bugle Corps.

Homer W. Wilson brought up the subject of a Jaycee Drum and Bugle corps to be made up of several snare drums, bass drum and bugle players and which it was pointed out would help not only the Jaycees, but the entire city, as well. The organization voted in favor of a motion asking President Walker to look into the formation of a drum and bugle corps.

The members entered into a round-table discussion on the advisability of making a series of good will trips over the county every few weeks, taking along the band and enjoying a get-together with the residents of each community in the county.

JAMES C. PAYNE DIES SUDDENLY IN DENTON

J. C. (Jim) Payne recently died suddenly of paralysis at Denton. He lived some years in McKinney and clerked in the hardware store of the late H. A. McDonald. He had many old friends still living in this county who will regret to learn of his death. It has been 40 years since he lived in McKinney. The following obituary is taken from the Frisco Journal:

Death of J. C. Payne.

James C. Payne was stricken with paralysis and died suddenly about noon Thursday of last week at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Nat Wilks, in Denton.

He went from Frisco to Denton that morning with his daughter, Mrs. A. W. Martin, and granddaughter, Mrs. J. M. Johnson. He seemed in as good health as usual until the stroke came on.

Mr. Payne was 85 years old, and had lived in Texas 61 years and in Denton county 42 years. He was born in McMinn County, Tennessee and was married in 1872. Surviving are six children: Mrs. Nat Wilks of Denton; Mrs. A. W. Martin of Frisco; Mrs. Frank Witt of Little Elm; Mrs. C. S. Richey and Clarence Payne of Dallas; Press Payne of Freer; one sister, Mrs. Lewis, of Royston, two brothers, Bascom Payne of San Diego, Calif., and Reb Payne of Chattanooga, Tenn.

Funeral services were held Friday afternoon in the Baptist church at Little Elm followed by burial in Little Elm cemetery. Services conducted by Dr. Karl Moore, pastor of the First Baptist church of Denton, assisted by Rev. McSpedden, pastor of the Frisco Baptist church.

The deceased was a member of the First Baptist church at Denton. He had lived a devoted Christian life until death.

For the past few years he had spent a great part of the time in Frisco with his daughter, where he had made a host of friends, who are deeply grieved at his going.

Several from here attended the funeral.

Mrs. J. H. Scott of Ardmore, Okla., is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Scott in the Chambersville community. Mesdames J. H. and O. S. Scott were McKinney visitors Thursday, and these editors acknowledge a welcome call from them while in the city.

Dr. S. J. Dobbs and wife of Princeton were business visitors at the county seat here Thursday.

Mrs. Clodie Reece of Dallas teacher at the Rowlett school in this county, was a local visitor Wednesday.

NRA MEMBER U.S. WE DO OUR PART

THE SCOPE AND PURPOSE OF THE PRESIDENT'S EMERGENCY RE-EMPLOYMENT CAMPAIGN

The President's Emergency Re-employment Campaign may be described briefly as a plan to add from 5,000,000 to 6,000,000 persons to the nation's payrolls within the next six weeks or so, through agreements made with the President of the United States by some 5,000,000 concerns or individuals, employing two or more persons each.

In order that this number of jobs may be made available, it will be necessary, of course, for employers in many cases to shorten working hours. The plan also provides for certain minimum wage scales which also in many cases will mean added labor costs for the employer.

The President's Agreement, however, includes a pledge of cooperation from the consuming public, and it is thus anticipated that the employer, while undertaking a larger expense as the direct result of his agreement with the President, will gain added patronage as the just reward of his public spirited attitude.

The fact also is to be borne in mind that where all employers act together to put people back on their payrolls or to raise wages, no employer, as the President himself has pointed out, "will suffer because the relative level of competitive cost will advance by the same amount for all."

It is to be understood that this plan is supplementary to the plan of code adoption by various industrial and trade groups which has for its purpose the elimination of unfair competition, the establishment of more equable rewards for labor, the spread of employment and the control of production. This plan for speeding business recovery, launched under the provisions of the National Recovery Act passed by the last Congress, is rapidly being made effective, and there will be no let-up on the drive to make its adoption widespread.

The President's Emergency Re-employment plan will bridge time and bring the nation out of the depression more rapidly than if the code adoption plan were depended upon exclusively. The President's Agreement also covers many business groups that would not be amenable to any of the code arrangements.

And what is still more important, perhaps, the President's Emergency Re-employment campaign carries certain psychological values that are as priceless as patriotism at this juncture of our economic history. The President himself made this quite clear in his recent radio address to the nation when he said: "On the basis of this simple principle of everybody doing things together, we are starting out on this nationwide attack on unemployment. It will succeed if our people understand it—in the big industries, in the little shops, in the great cities and in the small villages. There is nothing complicated about it and there is nothing particularly new in the principle. It goes back to the basic idea of society, and of the Nation itself, that people acting in a group can accomplish things which no individual acting alone could ever hope to bring about."

Thus we have all the power and potency of mass attack directed along sound lines of organization and system. Here briefly, is an outline of this organized attack on unemployment: In every community, organizations are formed along military lines, which is fitting enough, because the President's Emergency Re-employment campaign is Uncle Sam's war on unemployment and the nation is rallying to the colors just as loyally as though we were actually engaged in a war against a foreign foe.

The local committee is made up of the active heads of the leading business and civic organizations, and includes also the mayor. These committees in the thousands of cities and towns throughout the country were formed following telegrams and letters sent by General Johnson to the presidents of Chambers of Commerce or similar trade bodies in every section of the United States. These local committees elect a general to have charge of the city campaign and a lieutenant general who is a woman. The general selects three colonels, each of whom is to take over a certain part of the campaign work. For example, Colonel No. 1 has charge of the "man-power" or organization department. Under his direction block-to-block canvasses will be made to check up on compliance with the President's Agreement, and to make a survey of the unemployed, as to adaptability by experience as to trades and industries and thus be able more readily to help in the processes of assimilation of labor by expanding industries. Colonel No. 2, briefly, has charge of newspaper publicity and kindred activities; and Colonel No. 3 has the training and direction of public speakers under his charge.

Each of these three colonels has seven or more majors on his staff, and each major has about the same number of captains. Each captain has seven or more field workers. All of the local organizations are, of course, constantly supplied with educational and inspirational material of all kinds from the National Recovery Administration in Washington. Literally tons and tons of printed matter has been shipped to every nook and corner of the country.

The N.R.A. emblem, known popularly as the Blue Eagle, is one of the most interesting and vital features of the campaign. All employers who sign the President's Agreement are entitled to display the Blue Eagle with the initials N.R.A. and the words "We Do Our Part." Merchants, manufacturers and all others who have the right to display the insignia by reason of their having complied with the President's Agreement, are permitted to hang it on their walls or in their windows, or on trucks and cars, and, if they so desire, to stamp it on their products or merchandise. It is, in fact, the desire of the Recovery Administration that all make liberal use of this badge of patriotism.

Any person in the United States who wishes to cooperate in the President's Emergency Re-employment Campaign and be considered as a member of the N.R.A. may go to the authorized establishment in his locality and sign a statement of cooperation as follows:

> "I will cooperate in re-employment by supporting and patronizing employers and workers who are members of N.R.A."

Any such signer will then be given and may thereafter use the insignia of consumer membership in N.R.A.

Every phase of the progress of this mighty campaign will be flashed in the newspapers of the country and announced constantly over the radio. In this way everyone will be in a position to know just what the campaign is doing from day to day in actually putting people back on the payrolls and adding to the mass purchasing power of the country.

While, as has been stated, it is desired that liberal use of the insignia be made by employer and consumers, it is to be remembered that the official N.R.A. emblem is the property of the United States Government and may not be used or reproduced without authority of the National Recovery Administration.

The lists of all employers who sign the President's Agreement are displayed in local post-offices and it is urged that all employers who have not yet signed the agreement do so immediately and deliver them to their local post-master.

With some minor exceptions, the terms of the President's Agreement with employers is, briefly, as follows: Any employer of a factory or mechanical worker or artisan must not pay him less than 40 cents an hour or work him more than 35 hours a week, except that if the employer were paying less than 40 cents for that kind of work on July 15 the employer can pay that rate now, but not less than 30 cents an hour. As to all other employes—those on a weekly rate—the employer will pay not less than $15 a week in a city of over 500,000 population; or $14.50 a week in cities of between 250,000 and 500,000; or $14 a week in cities between 2,500 and 250,000 population; or $12.00 a week in cities of less than 2,500 population, and the employer agrees not to work this class of workers more than 40 hours a week. As to employes who were getting a higher wage, the employer must not reduce their wages because of a reduction in their hours and he should generally keep the usual pay differences as between the lower and the higher paid employes. And after August 31, he must not work children under 16 years of age. There are, of course, some other [illegible] in special cases, but the terms of the agreement as [illegible] cover the large bulk of cases.

DICK ALLEN JULY LEADER OF ACME AGENTS

We notice in "The Acme Life Line," a monthly four-page bulletin issued by Acme Life Insurance company, Austin, Texas, that R. R. (Dick) Allen of McKinney ranked first among the ten leading agents in producing paid business for the month of July of that old line life insurance company.

Mr. Allen was, only a few weeks ago, appointed as district agent for this county with headquarters at McKinney by Martin W. Moses, state agency director, with headquarters at Austin. Mr. Allen was leader of fifty agents that were on the honor roll for July for the production of business.

Readers of the Daily Courier-Gazette and Weekly Democrat-Gazette are being made quite familiar with the Acme Life Insurance company by its line of advertising that is appearing in this paper. In these newspaper ads are being featured the Acme's "New Deal" policy. This policy pays under each $1,000:

$1,000 for natural death.

$1,500 for accidental death.

$2,000 for accidental death while a passenger on a common carrier.

$500 to the policyholder if the beneficiary is accidentally killed while a passenger on a common carrier. (The payment of this does not cancel the policy).

Payment of premiums cease and the policy becomes paid-up if the policyholder becomes totally and permanently disabled through accident or disease.

Holders of this policy are insured for periods as follows: Ages 20 to 40, inclusive, to age 45; ages 41 to 55, inclusive, for five years; but policies are convertible at any time within the period to ordinary life or limited payment life and without medical examination.

Mesdames W. B. Staley, Mattie Carter, A. L. Bruce, Miss Lorine Cassady, Miss Maude McCleskey and Pat Harrison, all of Frisco, spent Wednesday visiting in the county seat. While here, Mrs. Staley gave our office a pleasant visit. She is our faithful correspondent from Frisco.

A BROWNWOOD COUPLE LOCATES IN M'KINNEY

Otis Lincoln and family recently moved to McKinney from Brownwood, and will be located at 501 South Barnes street. Mr. Lincoln will have charge of Swift & Company's sales and operations in this vicinity with headquarters in McKinney. Mr. Lincoln and family are highly esteemed and are beng welcomed to our city and county. We acknowledge a pleasant call from him, and are pleased to enroll him on our daily subscription list. No better evidence can be imagined of intended useful citizenship in a civic and business way of a new-comer than that he and his family, as soon as they arrive, to order their new home local newspaper to be delivered at their door every afternoon. It is a manifestation of purpose to quickly get acquainted and become identified with those among whom they come and among whom they are to serve and earn their livelihood.

ABLE SERMON SUNDAY BY DR. C. S. WEAVER

This writer was privileged to hear Rev. Clifford S. Weaver preach at the morning worship hour Sunday at the First Christian church. We are impelled to call attention to the merit of this message to his large audience, mostly made up of his own members.

After the preliminaries, the song service, the Lord's memorial, and the usual announcements for the coming week, he began his sermon. His text was from the 77th psalm and 13th verse, "Thy way, O Lord, is in the sanctuary," together with a line from the 19th verse, "Thy way is in the sea." The mystery suggested in this text was explained by this good pastor in words of wisdom and reverence for the Great Creator.

The sanctuary was portrayed to be in God's house, where his followers worship Him or wherever Christ dwells in the hearts of men, women and children. Rev. Weaver's portrayal of God's power in His sanctuary and in the sea was thrilling in form, terse, in its delivery. This writer can not quote the exact language of his well connected thought.

Rev. Weaver's climax came, as we view his sermon, when he plead with his people in tenderness and love to stay with Christ, whom they have joined in ether days, to return from the ignoble hunt for pleasures in strange paths. When calamity comes to the home, when little children cry for help from conditions for which they are not responsible, challenges Christianity around the world.

We are wondering why all who were present and heard this good pastor, do not go out and tell the people far and near of this sermon. It would surely help advance church attendance and to say the least, would make a busy, faithful pastor happy.

All of the pastors of McKinney need a 100 per cent loyalty of Christian people.

A CENTURY OF PROGRESS IN SIX DAYS.

(BY JAMES M. MUSE)

A condition has arisen which amounts almost to an impending calamity to me personally. Ever since a certain Hayseed story appeared over my signature, my good friends of the newspaper fraternity, every time I make a trip of any kind, seem to think it necessary that I have a trail of nonsense behind me. Now I am a serious, soberminded fellow and utterly unable to live up to the reputation of humorist, hence my alarm.

From 1833 to 1933 covers considerable territory. To make a Century of Progress in six days involves a lot of walking; but many have attempted it, and I was no wiser than the others, so I threw a few extra socks and shirts in my grip and gaily set out.

Riding the Choo-Choo.

Ever since Bounce and I made our long auto trip in 1931 certain "friends" have taken a malicious pleasure in intimating that if Bounce had not been along I probably would have been lost, or something. Just to prove that I could take care of myself in far places and among strangers, I decided to go to Chicago alone.

However, I did not wish to take any unnecessary chances; so I bought me a round trip ticket with a berth on the Pullman, and had the agent wire ahead and reserve me a room in a hotel that I had heard about. This ticket agent assured me that the sleeper went all the way, and I could not possibly get lost between Dallas and Chicago, unless I got off the car and let it leave me. Nevertheless when I got to examining my ticket and found that I was routed over three different railroad systems, I could not resist asking the conductor on the train whether I would have to change cars. Incidentally I had also taken the precaution of having myself fully insured so there would be no loss, whether it happened by accident or from natural cause.

Soon after I got settled in my seat with my baggage around me, a nice looking young fellow came to where I was and said,

"Is this Judge Muse?"

I couldn't remember ever seeing him before, but I thought maybe my memory was at fault, and I always try to meet a friendly gesture halfway. So I poked out my hand and said:

"I guess I ought to know you, but I can't call your name right now."

"Oh," said he, "I came to deliver your hotel reservation, and to give you this card to fill out with your name and address etc., when you get there."

He had been gone only a few minutes when I had it figured out. He was looking for Lower No. 1 in Car 18, and if the fellow in there had not been named Muse it would have just been some galoot who was jaywalking The "Judge" part was easy, because I had with my baggage a leather briefcase such as lawyers use.

Pretty soon I saw that fellow coming back through the car and I stopped him.

"Hey Mr. Hotel Man, they tell me your hotel is fifty stories high, and I don't want to get in the top of it."

"Don't worry," says he, "they charge extra for the tower rooms."

We rattled on until it got to be pretty near night. I had made up my mind that I was not going to take chances by getting off of that train, so I decided to patronize the dining car even though it was expensive It always seemed to me that the waiters in those institutions looked on you as a cheap skate who had mistreated the railroad, if you got out without paying as much as a dollar and a half for what passed for a meal—and the less you ordered the higher their charges.

There were four chairs at the little table where I sat. A family of three came in looking for seats. Paterfamilias and Materfamilias took the chairs opposite mine, and Young Amerrycuss sat down beside me.

" I want liver and onions."

"Well you can't have 'em."

"You said I could have what I wanted."

"You can't have anything except what you see on that bill of fare, young man."

"Well I don't know what to order then."

"Son," said I, "don't feel bad about it. I never have yet learned how to order a meal on one of these things. I suspect you had better let your father order for you."

Things went along very quietly after that until the time came to settle up. Then the waiter began to fidget around and look worried, and upon inquiry I learned that my card was lost, upon which was written a list of that railroad fodder which I had consumed. That youngster had managed in some way to get hold of my menu folder containing the card and mislaid it. It was finally found, and after I had parted with a greenback and received as change a lonesome silver dime, ceremoniously handed to me on a little silver tray, I was at liberty to go back to my sleeping car. Such is life on the diner.

I got to thinking what a smart man old George W. Pullman was. He looked ahead and provided for most everything. For instance, he had the windows on his cars fixed so that the passengers could not stick their heads out and unexpectedly collide with a bridge—saving many a damage suit.

The porter had begun making up the beds in the other end of the car, and he was locking into place every piece of that ingenious mechanism so that the fellow in the upper could not possibly burst through and bump the fellow in the lower. Damage suits forestalled again. I watched him do the same things over and over in the same way and the same order—not a lost motion—he evidently did not even have to think about it. I began to wonder if one of these big manlike apes had sufficient habit forming powers to be trained to do that. Just then it occurred to me to count the number of berths and it was twelve, I compared all the sleeping cars in sight and found that the berths were not numbered above twelve. Then it occurred to me that this was another thing that showed what a wise old bird Senator Pullman was. If there had been a No. 13 there would have been no portering!

You say he never was senator, Well I'm surprised. He must have been cheated of his destiny. He certainly was financially qualified; or else "Uintah" and "Wabash," "Minnetonka" and "Triniday," "Fairmount" and "Wayside," et cetera have been designed and builded in vain.

The porter was moving up towards my end of the car, and I knew I wouldn't sleep the first part of the night anyhow, because I had consummed a pot of coffee in the diner, that being the only part of the meal that I really enjoyed. So I moved to the smoking compartment, and there I found a man who served in the navy during the World war and who was now operating a chain store, a German who had worked most of his life for a big candy company but was now in business for himself, and the proprietor of a goat ranch in South Texas whose fortunes rose and fell with the price of mohair. The four of us proceeded to discuss Franklin D. and Nira, and saved the country to the best of our ability until 11:30. I spare you that discussion, because you could probably make at least as good a job of it as we did.

When I returned to my berth it was in readiness for me to retire, which I did; but I wasn't sleepy. I couldn't see much in the dark, but I came alive every time we passed through a lighted town. I recognized Texarkana, the nearest place to McKinney, where diamonds are found au naturel; however, the only things that I saw sparkling were the lights of that interesting city and the eyes of Miss America, I knew Little Rock when we reached it, because it is so different, and then also it is the place where I narrowly escaped having to officiate temporarily as chaplain of the Arkansas legislature several years ago.

Then I must have been dead to the world for hours because the next thing I remember it was daylight and I was lying there gazing out my window at a scenic vista, adown a long valley between two big wooded hills, and somebody said:

"We are in the Ozarks, and aren't they beautiful?"

After that for hundreds of miles it was a beautiful panorama of varying mountain scenery that flicked past my window. I got so interested feasting my eyes upon it that I almost forgot to go to breakfast. There is a soulstirring, awe-inspiring beauty about the rugged, majestic peaks of the Rockies and the Alps; but there is a subtler, gentler, more endearing charm about the older mountains, whose jagged lines have been softened by the lapse of ages and whose rounded forms are clothed in beautiful green, and such are the Alleghanies, the Blue Ridge Range, the Cumberlands and the Ozarks—in fact all those chains of mountains which go to make up the Appalachian system, which lies like a necklace of emerald beads across the breast of North America.

Our train was all day crawling across Missouri and Illinois, and I noticed they have a very short corn crop. I did not see what looked like a good field of corn in Missouri nor in Southern Illinois, Northern Illinois, between Springfield and Chicago, had a few fields of corn that were perfectly green (not fired up by drouth as most of them were) and they might make good corn if winter does not catch them before they mature.

It was getting dark as we entered Chicago on the tracks of the Illinois Central. Going north alongside Lake Michigan, the lake was to the east, the city to the west. We traveled for several miles by the side of the Century of Progress Exposition, which is built on made land out in the lake. The whole fair was in plain sight, brilliantly lighted and reflecting all the colors of the rainbow. A monster balloon in the shape of an elephant kept trying to stand on its head or turn a somersault or something. It reminded me of a great big magnificent carnival.

S. S. Sharp of Pike is another brand new Weekly Democrat-Gazette subscriber whom we gladly welcome. He purchased the A. D. Hope & Sons store at Pike several years ago when the latter came to McKinney and opened up their big hardware and furniture store in this city. Mr. Sharp's store and stock later burned out. Since that time Mr. Sharp has been on his farm until recently when he opened up a business again at Pike in Northeast Collin. Mr. Sharp was born in the Pike community fifty-two years ago and has lived there all of his life.

A card from Willie A. Greer states that he and family have located at Rogers, Arkansas. His health has been greatly benefited since locating in Arkansas several months ago. Mr. Greer was reared in the Chambersville community. His wife was formerly Miss Lena Thompson of McKinney. For the last fifteen or twenty years they have been living in Sherman. Recently, they moved to Arkansas for the benefit of Mr. Greer's health and we are glad to learn that he is realizing his hope of improvement and restoration to health again.

DEATH CALLS MRS. O. M. GODDARD AT HOME THURSDAY

NATIVE OF NORTH CAROLINA BURIAL THIS AFTERNOON

Mrs. O. M. Goddard, for many years a resident of McKinney, passed away at her home on South Parker street Wednesday night, September 20, at 7:25 o'clock. She had been in ill health for eighteen months and critically ill for the last six weeks.

The deceased, before her marriage, was Miss Ellen Reaves, daughter of the late Avery W. and Isabella Reaves. She was born near Brevard, North Carolina, June 8, 1862, being at the time of her death 71 years, 3 months and 12 days old.

She came to Texas and to Collin county when a child with her parents, who first settled in the Weston community. They later moved to McKinney, where she had since resided. On June 20, 1883, she was married to Oscar M. Goddard, also of McKinney, the officiating minister being the groom's father, Rev. A. B. Goddard, Christian minister of this city.

She and her husband celebrated their golden wedding anniversary, having been married fifty years on June 20 of this year.

They were the parents of one child, Loren M. Goddard, who is associated with his father in the operation of a job printing shop in this city.

She was a Christian from early childhood and had been a loyal and faithful member of the First Christian church here.

Funeral services will be conducted in the family home on South Parker street this (Thursday) afternoon at 4 o'clock, conducted by her pastor, Dr. Clifford S. Weaver. Interment will follow in Pecan Grove cemetery with the C. C. Harris Funeral home in charge of funeral arrangements.

The deceased is survived by her heartbroken husband, O. M. Goddard, who has long been engaged in the printing business in McKinney; by her son, Loren M. Goddard; two grandchildren, Mrs. Paul Ryon, of Whitewright, and Marshall Goddard, of McKinney and by one great-grandchild, Loren Paul Ryon, of Whitewright.

The deceased had lived an exemplary, Christian life and was esteemed by every friend and acquaintance. Although quiet and unassuming she was ever at work in the service of Her Master's Kingdom, and her going at such a ripe old age fills to completion a life of devotion, service as a beloved Christian worker.

CANVASSING BOARD MAKES FINAL COUNT

A final count made Wednesday by the state canvassing board of returns of the Aug. 26, election showed that all four amendments to the constitution carried. All counties except DeWitt have sent in returns.

The canvass on ratification of repeal of the federal prohibition amendment will not be made until Sept. 26, thirty days after the election. Unofficial returns, including all counties except Titus, Hidalgo and DeWitt gave 304,696 for repeal to 191,966 against.

The beer amendment carried by a majority of 131,025. The vote was 317,340 for and 186,315 against.

The homestead tax exemption amendment received 410,422 votes for and 79,756 against, a majority of 330,666.

The home rule amendment carried by a majority of 185,694. For the amendment 317,521 votes were cast and against, 131,827. The $20,000,000 relief bond issue carried by a majority of 172,655, 334,728 for and 162,073 against.

So far, McKinney has had no case of "sleeping sickness." This is no "dead town," hence why should we have "sleeping sickness?" No reason on earth.

Sam J. Evans Visiting Here From Corpus

This editor enjoyed meeting up with Sam J. Evans, former McKinney insurance man who, with his wife and children, have been spending a few days with relatives and friends in this city and county. They came up a few days ago to attend the funeral of Mrs. Evans' sister, Mrs R. B. Treadaway who died at her late home at Altoga and who was buried in the cemetery at that place. Mr. Evans and family now reside at Corpus Christi in Nueces county, where he is district manager of the Praetorian Insurance company. He left here four years ago, first going to Orange, where they spent one year. They have resided in Corpus Christi for the past three years.

During their visit in this county they have been guests of his sisters, Mrs. Herrison, at Weston, and Mrs. Roy Veazey, of Wylie. They have also been visiting Mrs. E. B. Evans, wife of his late brother, who died a few years ago, and a niece of his, Mrs. Nettie Mae Stockwell, in McKinney. Their many friends here are enjoying their visit. Their seven children are: Robert, Kathryn, Willie Pearl, Wanda Mae, Sammy Fae, David and Wallace.

Mr. Evans is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Evans of Verona, who later moved here to McKinney, where both died a few years ago.

Sheriff G. J. S. Walker, Deputy Sheriff Arbie Sparlin and Jailor Stoney Allen went to Farmersville Thursday afternoon where they took into custody Arthur Barker who operates a cafe and filling station in that East Collin town. The McKinney officers took possession of several containers of whiskey and home brew which they brought back to McKinney. Barker was placed in jail, charged with possession and sale of intoxicating liquor. The examining trail was held Friday morning.

Misses Mary Younger and Rebekah Wilcox, 1933 graduates of the McKinney High school, left Thursday for Waco, where they will enter Baylor university in the freshmen class. Miss Younger is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isham Younger, while Miss Wilcox is the daughter of Judge and Mrs. F. E. Wilcox. Both are charming, talented young woman who proved themselves fine students in McKinney High school, and their many friends are expecting a similar record from them at Baylor university.

G. A. Stevens and son, George, of Kilgore, came up Thursday night to see their wife and mother, and little daughter, Mary Jane, who are here attending the bedside of Mrs. Steven's father, J. P. Nenney, who is quite ill.

H. M. McMahan of El Paso was in McKinney Thursday mingling with friends. He moved to El Paso three or four years ago, where his wife died. He lived in the White's Grove community for many years. Recently he has been visiting his daughter, Mrs. Clements, wife of a Fort Worth dentist and came up to McKinney to go out to the Bush schoolhouse community near Rowlett Creek church to visit his son, John Gibson McMahan, and wife. He expects to return to El Paso about the end of the present month.

Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Stacy of Allen are rejoicing over the arrival of a baby daughter, born in the City hospital here Monday, Sept. 11. The little miss and mother are getting along nicely. Mrs. Stacy will be remembered as Miss Veda Samuell of this city, being a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Samuell. The happy young parents have another child, a son, Doyle Samuell Stacy, who is about two years old. They are receiving congratulations upon the arrival of their pretty little daughter.

Misses Mary Frances and Seawillo Ferguson of Sherman have returned to their home after coming to McKinney to attend the funeral of their grandfather, the late J. P. Nenney, here Tuesday. Their mother, Mrs. W. J. Ferguson, is remaining in McKinney for a few days.

Mrs. Ed Barclay of Galveston is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Rich in this city.

SAYS:

[illegible] an option on an additional amount of insurance for five long years thus protecting your present age rate. YOU ARE NOT OBLIGATED TO TAKE MORE but most certainly most of us hope to INCREASE OUR INSURANCE ESTATE year by year. Nothing like this policy ever before written—it's the 'talk of Texas' where it has been properly presented. Not only have you the opportunity of increasing the amount in five years but—if you pay one full premium in 1933 THERE IS NO CASH PAYMENT DUE IN 1934; or, if you prefer and if your finances demand then you may pay one-half (½) the first year's premium in 1932 and the other one-half (½) in 1934—one year from date of policy—no interest. (The latter arrangement does not effect your policy in case of death.) Let me explain this most unusual policy NOW.

Yours For Insurance

Double In 8 Years

What a Gain

THERE ARE 2,718,240 INSURANCE POLICIES IN TEXAS carrying a total of $3,176,316,478.00 (Three Billion, one hundred seventy-six million, three hundred sixteen thousand, four hundred seventy-eight dollars) IN INSURANCE. The number of policies in Texas has doubled during the past eight years.

Texas Life Insurance Marches On

During the year of 1932 Texas policyholders and beneficiaries received a total of—

$70,800,000.00

(Seventy Million, Eight Hundred Thousand Dollars) The above shows an INCREASE of $12,100,000.00 or 21%, over 1931 which was $58,700,000.00. While Texas is only 5th in Population yet the INSURANCE INCOME for 1932 was 11th in the whole United States. The total payments to policyholders and beneficiaries in America for 1932 reached a staggering total of OVER FOUR BILLION DOLLARS.

Acme's Reconstruction Policy

(Originated and Written ONLY by Acme Life) is new, distinct and different. No other policy is so well fitted for the present day needs. A close analysis MOST ALWAYS CONVINCES that this policy will best fit the individual case. One DISTINCT PROVISION AND ADVANTAGE of this policy is that it gives the policyholder—to increase their insurance, UP TO DOUBLE THE ORIGINAL AMOUNT, at same premium rate (subject to insurability) and mature at same date as the original policy—you protect your present age rate under this plan.

DAUGHTER OF W. T. DUNN IS DALLAS BRIDE

Friends in McKinney and Collin county have received announcement of the marriage of Miss Dorothy Dunn of Dallas to Morris Buckingham Jr., also of that city. The marriage was solemnized at the home of Rev. A. M. Rogers, pastor of the Ross Avenue Baptist church Monday night, September 12, at 7 o'clock.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Dunn, 1508 Hughes Circle, Dallas, but formerly of Altoga in this county. She is an attractive and refined young lady, possessing many winsome qualities of heart and many friendships. She attended school at Altoga and also at North Dallas High school.

The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Buckingham Sr. of Dallas. He is a young man, ambitious and highly esteemed by his many friends. He is employed in Dallas. The happy young couple will make their home at 2808 Clairmount street, Dallas.

Mr. and Mrs. Dunn have a son, Howard Lee Dunn, who was married June 10, last to Miss Imogene Adams, attractive young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Adams of Dallas. Howard Lee holds a position with the Oriental Oil company in that city.

The Dunn family are highly esteemed in this city and county, where they lived for many years. They were active in religious, social and civic affairs at Altoga and that section of the county and have been greatly missed from these circles since their removal to Dallas. While residing at Altoga, Mrs. Dunn was our [illegible] correspondent for these papers, which position she filled most efficiently for many years.

LROAD COMMISSION ISSUES ORDER WERING LONE STAR'S GATE RATE; TO BE CONTESTED IN STATE'S COURTS

rmation reaches us to the that the Railroad Commis- f Texas has entered an or- ducing the Lone Star Gas ny's city gas rate from 40c per 1,000 cubic feet.

order will, no doubt, be r to review in the courts.

far as the Municipal Gas ry is concerned, says J. B. e, president, the only effect h order would be to reduce erating expenses in a rela- small amount and which would be offset by recent es in state and federal taxes and by increased expenses due to the company's compliance with the National Industrial Recovery act program.

For the past three years the earnings of the Municipal Gas company have been so seriously affected by business conditions that the company has been unable to earn even a minimum fair rate of return upon its property. In view of these facts, it will be manifestly impossible for the company to make any rate revision even though the order of the railroad commission should be finally sustained.

Miss Mildred Mell, daughter of J. L. Mell of the Chambersville community, has recently returned home from Mercedes, South Texas, where she has been teaching school for the past two or three years. Miss Mell recently went to that place to teach again this year, but the school was temporarily postponed due to the flood and tornado which swept that section of South Texas, not because of damage done but because of the threat of a disease outbreak caused by the conditions following the flood. The closing was purely a precautionary measure and the school will soon be opened again.

A. & M. Students Entertained At Local Banquet

A. & M. exes of this city and county gave an informal banquet at the Corner Cupboard at 7:30 o'clock Saturday night in this city, at which F. Dudley Perkins of the class of 1897, presided as toastmaster. Other graduates and former A. & M. students present were: Hon. Marion S. Church, class of 1905, Dallas; County Commissioner Don O. Davis, class of 1911; County Farm Agent Jack P. McCullough, class of 1924; Chandler Atkinson, class of 1924; Henry C. Barlow, class of 1913; J. T. (Doc) Rollins, class of 1921; City Commissioner Add G. Wilson, class of 1912; Elton Riggs, class of 1921, and Walter B. Wilson, McKinney editor, who never attended A. & M. but is an honorary member of the Collin county organization and always a worker and booster for this great Texas college.

An Eloquent Address.

The dinner was complimentary to graduates of the McKinney and Plano High schools and other Collin county boys who are planning to attend A. & M. this year as explained by the toastmaster. Mr. Perkins, who was active on the Aggies' football team during his college days and on whose motion, according to authority of the speaker of the evening, the [illegible] the college through the years and has helped a number of boys to attend college there. The speaker of the evening, Hon. Marion S. Church, who graduated from the college twenty-eight years ago, is a native of McKinney, being a son of Mrs. Church and the late Judge John Church, one of Collin county's foremost lawyers, judges, orators and civic leaders of revered memory. Marion S. Church has risen to prominence at the Dallas bar. His oratorical ability makes him often in demand as a speaker, especially at college occasions. He was especially pleased at the large number of students that his native home county contributes to the college every year and especially the large delegation of this year. The Agricultural and Mechanical college of Texas is a land grant institution originated by an act of congress approved July 2, 1862. By joint resolution approved November 1, 1866, the legislature accepted provisions of the congressional legislature and issued scrip for 180,000 acres of public land. The legislative act of April 17, 1871, formally established the Agricultural and Mechanical college which was located on a large tract of land in Brazos county. By the constitutional convention of 1876, the college was made a branch of the University of Texas. The college was formally opened for reception of students October 4, 1876. The federal and state appropriations developed a broad foundation at the college for instruction, for investigation and for extension. In recent years and months, the plant has been greatly added to [illegible] colleges among all the states; Mr. Church paid tribute to the broad scope of its instruction and the success its graduates are having in every line of human endeavor during the past fifty years. He urged the young high school graduates to give of their very best not only in mastering their respective courses but also to take part in the student activities and athletics and to enlist heart and soul for the great Texas higher educational institution that he hoped would be their alma mater. Other former students and graduates each added a few words of congratulation and good will to the boys in their determination to seek college educations at A. & M.

COLLIN REPRESENTATIVE JOE W. M'CULLOUGH WANTS TO HELP OUR FARMERS

CALLS ON WASHINGTON AUTHORITIES TO FIX MINIMUM PRICE ON COTTON AND TAKE VIGOROUS STEPS TO IMPROVE THE MARKET BEFORE THE STAPLE GETS OUT OF HANDS OF FARMERS.

Representative J. W. McCullough and several other members of the lower house have introduced the following House Concurrent Resolution No. 3 in the present special session of the legislature. Representative McCullough says that it is alarming the way farmers of the South are having to sell their cotton and other products at such a low price this fall and in a very short while, cotton especially, will pass out of the hands of the grower. If help is given them, it must be extended at once. The resolution appeals to the federal government to use and exert its utmost influence and power in a strenuous effort to bring about immediate and substantial enhancement by fixing a just and equitable price for the present cotton crop before it passes out of the hands of the growers:

House Concurrent Resolution.

Whereas, the farmers of our Southland and especially of the State of Texas, believing in the wisdom, patriotism and sympathy of our great president, Franklin D. Roosevelt, did heartily and in the best of faith co-operate with the secretary of the department of agriculture and the agencies of said department in an effort to enhance and stabilize the price of the present cotton crop by plowing up or otherwise destroying a large and the required part of said crop; and,

Whereas, the payment by the government of the cotton rentals upon the acreage of the cotton that was plowed up, or otherwise eliminated, has been much longer delayed than was expected by the farmers when they entered into the crop-elimination contracts; and,

Whereas, the farmers of Texas and the whole South are now in the midst of harvesting the cotton crop of the year 1933, and the price of cotton, notwithstanding the action heretofore taken, is still distressingly low, fluctuating and unstable, and the farmers are having to sell their cotton, now being picked and gathered, at a price but little better, only a cent or two, than it was selling for at the corresponding season last year; and,

Whereas, Practically all other products of the farm and ranch that the southern farmer brings to market, such as cattle, hogs, milk and butter, poultry and eggs, are at the lowest ebb; and,

Whereas, It is believed by almost every one that the cotton speculator and gambler in the operation of our cotton exchanges or otherwise, are having much and have had much to do in depressing and keeping down the price of cotton; and,

Whereas, By reason of the unusual shortage in feed stuff in a large part of our state, the present low price of cotton, and the increasing price of those things and necessaries which the farmer is compelled to buy, our cotton farmers will be, at the close of this cotton season, in a more deplorable financial condition than they were in at the close of last year's season; and,

Whereas, The prosperity of our cotton farmers is a prime factor in the general prosperity of all our citizens, and the prosperity—the buying power—of the farmers is contingent mainly on their obtaining a fair and reasonable price for their cotton; and,

Whereas, The government has and is making an effort to set the price on all commodities other than cotton and set the prices of wages and salaries to be paid to different employes throughout the country; and,

Whereas, In view of the situation that now confronts them and which must, it seems, confront them in just a few months, our cotton farmers, though usually hopeful and patient, are naturally becoming discouraged, disheartened, discontented and sorely perplexed, and are needing and demanding relief.

Now, therefore be it resolved, by the house of representatives, the senate concurring, that the 43rd legislature of the State of Texas convened in extraordinary session, do hereby, in all sincerity, recommend and earnestly and urgently request that the Honorable Henry A. Wallace, secretary of the department of agriculture, and all the agencies of said department, and any and all others having authority in the premises, use his and their utmost influence and power in a strenuous effort to bring about an immediate substantial enhancement by fixing a just and equitable price of the present cotton crop and that this be done before said crop has passed from the hands of the producing farmer. The situation calls for prompt, drastic and fearless action on the part of the powers that be. Let vicious and selfish cotton gambling be suppressed. Let conspirators in restraint of fair and untrammeled trade be brought to justice. Let destructive tariffs be removed and foreign markets opened up to our surplus cotton. Let those at the helm fail us not in this hour of stress and storm.

Be it further resolved, That a copy of this resolution be mailed each to the president of the United States, the secretary of the department of agriculture and the secretary of justice.

Money Inflation, 20 Cent Cotton Asked By South

Would Cut Acreage Of Fleecy Staple; Increase Of $3,000,000,000 In Cash Indicated As Wanted.

President Roosevelt was asked in resolutions adopted Monday by 200 representatives from ten cotton states to have the government establish a minimum price of 20c a pound for cotton on the farm, basis middling. Mark L. Goodwin, writing in Tuesday's Dallas News, from Washington, says:

If the program outlined by the gathering, which included currency inflation as a foundation, fails immediately to bring cotton to 20c, it said, "our only recourse will be to call on you and our governors to close the gins and cottonseed oil mills as a matter of self preservation." Immediate suspension of the cotton processing tax also was asked.

The outstanding tenor of the day's discussion was for a farmers' holiday and to stop the sale of cotton.

The conference included cotton producers, farm leaders, members of congress and state officials and legislators from Texas, Alabama, Arkansas, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Mississippi, Oklahoma, Missouri and Louisiana. Sterling P. Strong of Dallas, Representative at large from Texas, and J. E. McDonald, state commissioner of agriculture, were present.

The gathering also included representatives from Western wheat and cattle producing states, the problems of which were included in the inflation of the currency demanded in the resolution. President Roosevelt was asked for immediate inflation under the powers granted at the last session of congress.

Other recommendations were that the 1934 cotton crop be held to 9,000,000 bales; that cotton seed be established to a minimum of $30 a ton by marketing agreements or other powers vested in the government; that all regulations, codes, etc., relating to NRA and the agricultural adjustment administration be interpreted that as meaning ginning of cotton and all persons engaged therein be considered and dealt with as agricultural labor and therefore unaffected by the hours and wages provisions of the NRA. The following provision also was adopted: "If prices of agricultural commodities are not promptly increased to parity levels by expansion of the currency, we urge the administration property to fix a minimum price for cotton at 15c a pound by offering to buy from each cotton producer 15 per cent of the cotton produced by such producer this year on condition that such producer enter into a contract to reduce his balage next year by the same amount that the government buys cotton from him, and will also reduce the quantity of cotton to be sold in 1935 by 25 per cent, based on a fair basis of allotment to be fixed by the secretary of agriculture. We furthermore urge that cotton bought by the government be held off the market until the government can sell it without loss and without breaking the price."

RETIRED DENISON TEACHER KNOWN IN M'KINNEY

The following interesting news item under Denison headline appeared in the Sherman Democrat of recent date:

The modern school miss with her degrees and specialization has a much easier time than the old-fashioned teacher, who was forced to be a social arbiter, nurse and mother confessor to a room full of school children of diversified ages.

With the opening of school this week, Miss Pina Watts, who retired from teaching three years ago, looked back on her first day of teaching fifty-two years ago and remarked that modern teaching is a much simpler occupation than it was a half century ago.

"While I was spared the hardships of the country school teacher of that time, as my first post was in the small town of Randolph, Tenn., still because I had been reared in Memphis I was considered an authority on social manners and the mothers as well as the children were brought to me.

"There was no school building in the town and my first day of teaching was in a small church where there was no stove. Each morning we would build a brush fire and lessons were heard with the children sitting in a circle around it. After several weeks of this the school was moved to the largest church in town that had a big stove. That was in October 1881.

"At that time women did not have degrees and while my education was more thorough than most of the small town teachers of that time it was a good many years later before I entered my first normal school."

After teaching in Tennessee and in Prescott, Ark., Miss Watts accompanied her family to McKinney where she taught six years. After ten years teaching in Gainesville she came to Denison in 1901, where she was the first primary teacher to employ the phonics method of teaching, which has since been adopted in all of the city schools.

Miss Watts retired from active teaching three years ago, being at that time a teacher at Peabody school, but so proficient is she in phonics that she was invited by F. B. Hughes, superintendent of public schools, to address the primary teachers on that system, last year at a meeting of the Teachers' institute. Miss Watts makes her home at 517 West Gandy street.

THRALL PHYSICIAN AND WIFE WED 60 YEARS AGO

Dr. and Mrs. Silvanus B. Kirkpatrick of Thrall, Williamson county, celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary Saturday, September 16. Dr. Kirkpatrick is 81 years old and Mrs. Kirkpatrick is 76.

They have three sons and one daughter living: Charles V. Kirkpatrick, of Dallas; Oliver H. Kirkpatrick, of Oklahoma City, Okla.; Dr. Bedford A. Kirkpatrick, of Thrall, and Mrs. Gordon L. Mann, of Hollywood, Calif. They have five grandsons and four granddaughters.

Dr. Kirpatrick is a brother of Mrs. L. R. Terry and of A. N. Kirkpatrick, both of Dallas, and of the late Mrs. W. A. Beck, of Celina. Mrs. Beck was the mother of Mrs. Sam Apple and of Mrs. B. Frank Skelton, both of this city.

Dr. and Mrs. Kirkpatrick were married in Tennessee in 1873 and soon moved to Texas, locating in Plano, where six of their children are now buried. Dr. Kirkpatrick began his medical practice in Plano and later moved to Celina and from there to Commerce.

In 1900 they moved to Waco, where Dr. Kirkpatrick took an active part in organized and preventative medicine, and is a charter member of the Waco Pathological - Anatomical association. When leaving Waco, in 1909, the physicians of that city presented him with an ebony gold-headed cane. The doctor joined the State Medical association in 1884 and has kept his membership continuously and at the last state meeting, this year was made an honorary member. At present he and his son, Dr. Bedford A. Kirkpatrick, are practicing together in Thrall. He is very active and still drives his car while making professional calls.

Dr. and Mrs. Kirkpatrick and their children have visited their McKinney relatives and friends many times, being pioneer settlers of the Plano and Celina communities.

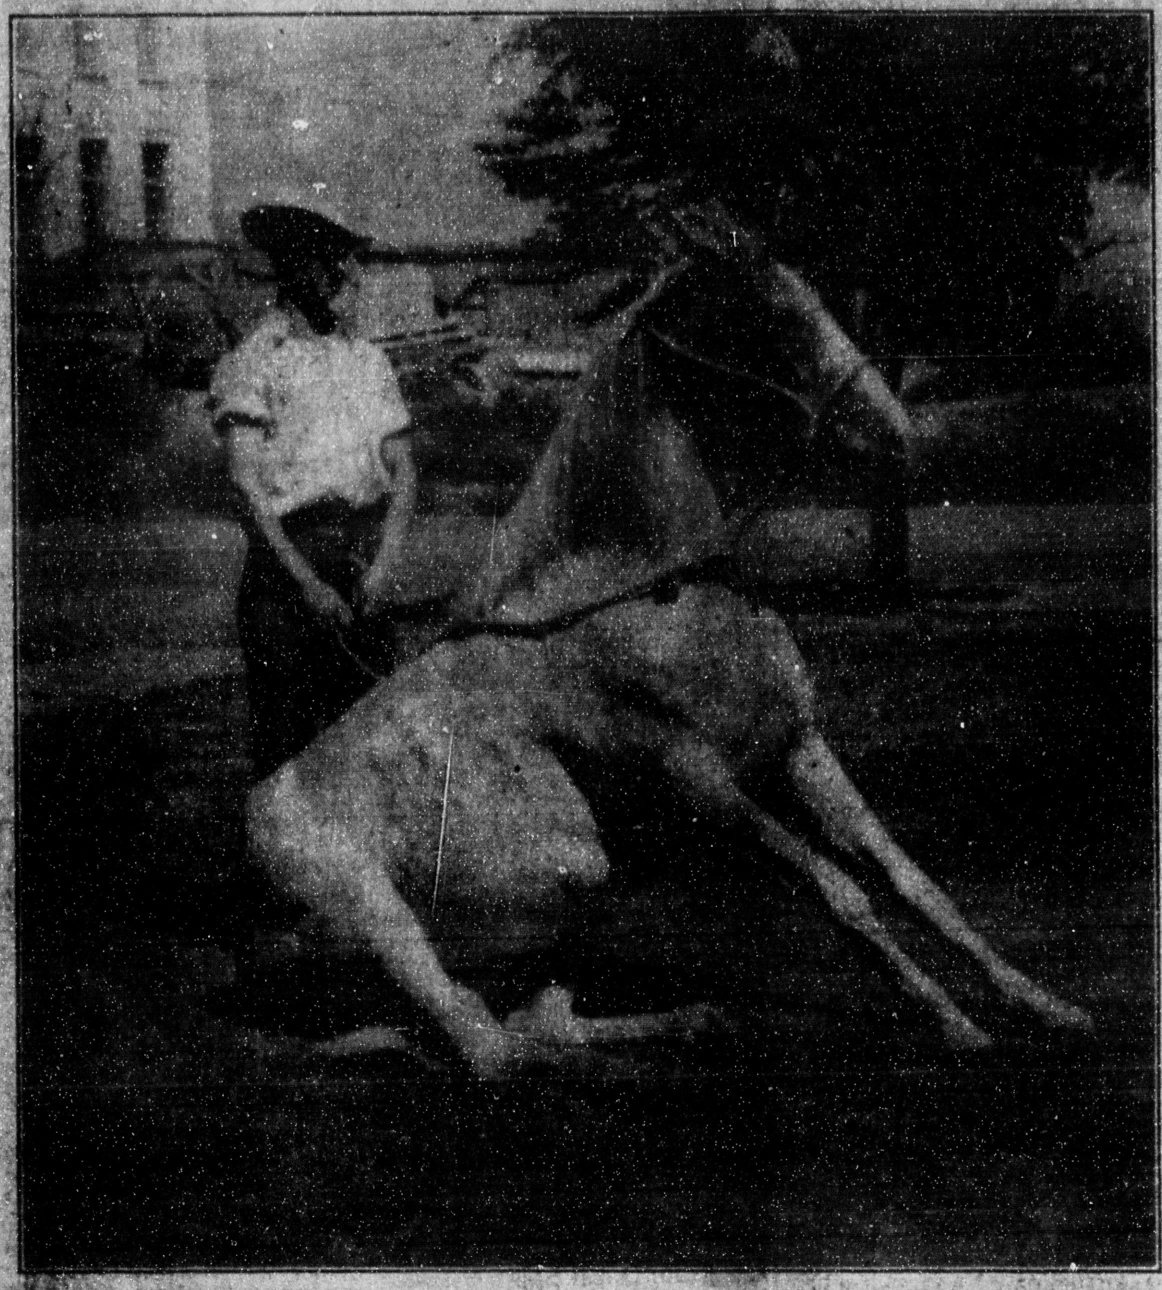
FAMOUS EDUCATED HORSE COMING TO THE FAIR



"The horse every one wants to see."

That, briefly, describes "Callie King," famous 3-year-old filly owned by Dr. Marion M. Brown of Mexia, Texas, coming to the horse show at the Collin County Free fair here next week. The filly will be a feature of Tuesday and Wednesday night's show next week down at the live stock arena.

"Callie King," which has won nation-wide renown in show rings in several states, will be brought here by its trainer, J. Y. Henderson, a senior veterinary student at Texas A. & M. college, at College Station. Dr. Brown is paying Henderson's way through college to train this animal.

Dr. Brown, who is one of West-Central Texas' outstanding physicians and surgeons, and who maintains his own hospital, is one of the state's best-known horse fanciers. Pres. A. H. Eubanks of the Collin County Free fair is a personal friend of Dr. Brown and has seen his fine filly perform. The performance of Callie King will be worth the price of admission to the horse show, according to President Eubanks, who says that thousands of Collin county and North Texas horse fanciers will be thrilled by this educated high school horse.

DISAPPOINTMENT AT THIS COUNTY'S RESPONSE TO CALL

Prof. W. S. Smith, chairman of the Collin County Red Cross chapter, and J. Ed Gibson, chairman of the disaster committee, are grateful to Melissa for sending in $20 cash to the relief fund of the Texas hurricane sufferers of the Rio Grande valley. The village of Wylie has sent in $9.50 cash and the postmaster, Mrs. Fred Duncan, who is a faithful Red Cross worker, expects to be able to collect some additional funds for the same purpose from that splendid little Southeast Collin city. Other points in the county are urged to follow the lead of Melissa and Wylie in collecting and sending in funds for the same purpose. The need for relief is very great. It is estimated that 24,000 people in the valley need help as a result of the terrible cyclone down there recently which killed about fifty people and destroyed much property.

Prof. Smith calls attention to the fact that more than $5,000 worth of flour and hundreds of dollars' worth of clothing have been distributed by the American Red Cross in Collin county for the relief of the needy. This aid relieved local charity organizations of the county from heavy expense. We are now asked to join in helping the storm sufferers in the Rio Grande area and your prompt subscription and co-operation is very badly needed.

Albert Evans, director of disaster relief for the Red Cross of the mid-western branch office, St. Louis, is authority for the statement that 2,300 homes were totally destroyed in the storm and 3,300 homes were more or less seriously damaged. Crops and other property were also destroyed or damaged.

Mr. Evans is now assisted by a staff of twenty-five experienced disaster workers and the process of restoration is proceeding as rapidly as possible. A conference between Red Cross and state relief officials was recently held at Harlingen. According to this agreement, the Red Cross assumes the responsibility for emergency hospitals and nursing service and the provision on an individual need basis of building material required in the reconstruction and repair of homes.

This Red Cross official regrets that Texas people are lagging in their help in this emergency for the relief of their own people.

Miss Pauline Hughes, able, efficient and well-liked manager of the McKinney Telephone company, accompanied by her twenty fine "hello, talking" girls, were guests Monday and Monday night of the Daily Courier-Gazette and Weekly Democrat-Gazette to see the "Gold Diggers of 1933" at the Ritz theater. They all liked the fine show. This was one of Roy Brockman's best shows of the entire year.

Rev. C. W. Dennis, pastor of the Methodist church at Burkburnett, was a guest here Monday night in the district parsonage of Dr. H. G. Ryan, presiding elder of the McKinney district and wife. Rev. Mr. Dennis and family lived in the district parsonage for four years during which time he served as presiding elder of this district. His wife and daughter, Miss Eunice, recently returned from a very enjoyable visit to the World's Fair at Chicago. While in our city Tuesday morning, Rev. Mr. Dennis shook hands with quite a number of old friends on our streets.

Mrs. Annie Headrick of this city was honored with a birthday dinner Sunday at the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Charlie Headrick, in the Valdasta community. Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Headrick and sons, Felton and Billie; Rev. W. J. Cunningham and Miss Geraldine Cate were all present to enjoy the day with the honoree. A delicious birthday dinner was served.

J. B. Horn of the White's Grove community places an order for some job printing in the way of circulars advertising a box supper at the White's Grove Methodist church Friday night, September 22, for the benefit of the church in its work. The good people of the White's Grove community invite everybody to come out. McKinney friends are urged to drive out.

Albert Smith of Dallas greeted friends here Tuesday. He was born and reared in McKinney, being a son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Smith, who have sometime since passed on. Albert's father, Hugo Smith, was postmaster here for many years, and he has been in the service of Uncle Sam for some thirty years. His many friends are always glad to see him.

INTERVIEW STATE HIGHWAY COMM. IN AUSTIN TUESDAY

County Judge J. Frank Harrington went down to Dallas late Monday afternoon, leaving that night with a party of Collin and Grayson officials to appear before the State Highway commission Tuesday. He was joined in Dallas by Judge Jake Loy of Sherman and other citizens of Grayson county. They went down in the interest of getting a new designation for Highway No. 116 through Grayson county.

This highway in Collin runs north and south through the western section. Much work is already being done on this highway, fourteen miles of new roadbed having been put down from Prosper on north to the Grayson county line in the last several weeks. After the new base has been put down an asphaltic coat will be put on top to preserve it. Judge Harrington will return Thursday.

Farmers are looking for cotton pickers as well as laborers to gather corn. Tuesday morning H. C. Carter of the Rock Hill community was here looking for twenty-five or thirty cotton pickers, offering to pay 60 cents per hundred pounds. He also offered $1.50 a day for laborers to gather corn. Said he found quite a few, who were not working, but could get no one to go for the amount he offered. This is the first time in many months that the farmers have hunted labor.

Plano Methodist's on Sunday, had a homecoming with an interesting program arranged by the pastor, Rev. J. D. Barron. By special invitation Dr. E. W. Alderson of Dallas preached the 11 o'clock sermon. Mrs. T. H. Morris, widow of a former pastor, was also present. Among former members who responded to calls for brief talks were John J. Russell of Dallas, Judge Wallace Hughston of McKinney, Mr. and Mrs. Watus Pendergrass of Dallas and John H. Salmons of Fort Worth and others.

The L. A. Scott Junior High School Lion Cubs football team, coached by James (Speed) Kimbriel, assisted by Dale Simpson, former Lion stars, will play Princeton, at Princeton, Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. G. E. Sonntag is coach of the Princeton High Panthers, who this year entered Class B with their first football team. It will be the opening game for both teams.

Pafford Hedgcoxe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hedgcoxe, recently fell from a load of hay at his father's place, just northeast of town. He fell under the wagon, one wheel of the vehicle passing over his chest, fracturing a rib. Pafford is out and around but says he is yet very sore.

COUNTY JUDGE URGES PAYMENT OF DELINQUENT TAXES

County Judge J. Frank Harrington has issued this formal statement to the press:

"The county has been carrying the delinquent taxes as long as they can do so. It is vitally necessary, therefore, that the people of this county, who owe delinquent taxes, should pay those taxes at once, otherwise the Commissioners' court will be required to enforce collections by suits."

"The insolvent delinquent taxes in this county have been growing at an alarming rate and within the very near future, the Commissioners' court will start a vigorous campaign to secure the collection of all such delinquent taxes.

"It is apparent at this time that the campaign to increase the purchasing power of the farmers and producers is going over big. Cotton at 10 cents and over and other farm productions in the same proportions will enable farmers and producers to pay up their back taxes and obligations.

"It is a mark of good citizenship and of patriotism for every citizen to pay his taxes as such taxes are the equitable disposition of the burden of government placed upon the citizenship. The government has to collect before it can get revenue to function.

Mr. and Mrs. Jetton live in the Franklin schoolhouse community. They have just made up seventy-eight gallons of extra nice, new Goldenrod sorghum syrup from a half acre of Goldenrod sugar cane. Mr. Jetton said that if he had had a good stand he would have made a hundred gallons from the half acre. He is selling this choice new syrup at only sixty cents per gallon delivered in McKinney.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hunter on Sunday attended the birthday celebration of his father, Jack Hunter, of Van Alstyne, who was celebrating his sixty-ninth birthday. Third Fair Booster Trip Made To North Collin Monday Night

Pres. A. H. Eubanks Of Fair Association Speaks Before Large Crowds at North-Northeast Collin County Towns.

Melissa, Anna, Westminster and Blue Ridge folks turned out in large numbers Monday night to greet the Collin County Free Fair trippers on their tour through the northern section of the county. They were rewarded with an enjoyable program from the McKinney Junior Chamber of Commerce band and also heard some of the outstanding features of the fair, as related by President A. H. Eubanks of the fair association, official speaker of the evening, assisted by W. Hammond Moore, secretary of the fair association.

First Stop At Melissa.

The first stop was at Melissa, that hustling little North Collin city, whose fine citizenship is noted for its progressiveness. As usual, a big crowd was on hand to enthusiastically receive the trippers. The ladies of Melissa served delightful punch. The merchants of Melissa donated the ingredients for this delightful treat. Those serving the punch were: Mrs. Shirley Taylor and Misses Corinne Gibson, Mary Lou Graves, Alice Douglass, Gladys Berry, Annie Mae Slaughter, Frances Gibson and others.

H. S. Wysong, Melissa banker and community leader, introduced Mr. Eubanks, declaring that Melissa was coming to the fair in large numbers. At Melissa, as well as other places visited, Mr. Eubanks forcefully related the outstanding features of the fair, explaining the various agricultural, horticultural, canning, poultry and livestock exhibits. He also mentioned the polo games each afternoon and dwelt on the horse show—the biggest in the Southwest—which will be held the first three nights. He commended the McKinney Junior Chamber of Commerce for their interest in the fair and for sponsoring this series of trips. Choice McClure is chairman of this series of trips, being appointed to that position by President Earl Walker.

Anna Hears Boosters.

Anna was the next placed visited where a good crowd turned out. Anna is another enterprising community that is showing much interest in the fair. The Anna Home Demonstration club has always been an exhibitor at the county-wide exposition.

Westminster Visited.

Westminster was the next place visited and another good crowd reward the trippers. M. L. Vermillion, an enterprising citizen and civic leader of that long established and enterprising little Northeast Collin town, was chairman of the welcoming group. They are highly enthusiastic about the fair this year.

Large Crowd At Blue Ridge.

The last place visited on the itinerary was Blue Ridge, and, as expected, Blue Ridge turned out en masse to give the trippers a royal reception. Blue Ridge is planning on its own community fair the first or second week in October—a big four-day event—but, of course, they are planning to come to the Collin County Free fair in large numbers and will bring along a large number of exhibits. Former County Commissioner W. M. (Bill) Baker introduced Mr. Eubanks. Among other things he said the Collin County Free fair was fortunate in having a man of Mr. Eubanks' caliber as president.

Secretary W. Hammond Moore was also a speaker at some of the places visited on Monday night's itinerary.

Mr. Eubanks is a public-spirited civic minded community leader and one of the biggest boosters McKinney has ever had. He gives freely of his time and effort to all enterprises for the betterment of the city and county, and it is the consensus of opinion over the county that he is the right man for the right place.

Thursday Night's Trip.

The fourth and concluding fair trip will be made Thursday night of this week when Weston, Celina, Prosper and Frisco will be visited. It is expected that the crowd going along will be even larger than that of the three previous booster trips and also that there will be large turnouts of local citizens at every place visited.

MAN FACES ARSON CHARGE IN DIST. COURT

Sheriff G. J. S. Walker, Jailer Stoney Allen and Col. Dick DeArmond have returned from Fort Smith, Ark., where they accompanied A. U. Midget back to McKinney. The latter was held in the Fort Smith jail for Collin county officers. He faces an arson charge in the local courts in connection with the burning of the Dooley general mercantile store at Renner several months ago. Midget has been placed in the Collin county jail in this city.

Our readers will remember that Ennis May was tried here during the spring term of district court on an arson charge in connection with the burning of this store and was assessed a sentence of seven years in the state penitentiary. Frank E. Shipley faces a similar charge and will be also tried in this term of court.

Clayton Brady of Justin, Denton county, who was injured in an automobile accident two weeks ago near Princeton and who has been a patient in the City hospital, is showing improvement. His uncle, Jim Brady, of Van Alstyne was here to visit him Saturday night, and on Sunday his brother, Bluford Brady, and wife of Krum, Denton county, came over to see him, before going on to Van Alstyne for a visit. Mrs. Bluford Brady went to school in Ponder, Denton county, to Mrs. Leland Horn, and while in McKinney she and her husband were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. C. Horn, parents of the late Prof. Leland Horn, who was drowned near Paris, Texas, about three years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Smith have gone to Texas A. & M. college for a brief visit. They were accompanied by their son, Harry, sophomore in that institution.

J. L. White, box 1550, Waco, sends in $1.25 to pay his Daily Courier - Gazette subscription ahead three months in advance. We thank you, Jim, and trust you will continue to enjoy reading your old home paper.

EDITORIAL EXPRESSION

Musical training is available to McKinney children the same as literary instruction. In recent days, a number of piano and vocal music teachers have inserted advertisements in this paper soliciting patronage. Music is a sublime art that is appreciated by all mankind regardless of the state of culture or prevalence of illiteracy.

Our county fair dates, September 25, 26, 27 and 28, are rapidly drawing near. Bring on your exhibits. Prepare to attend every day and night if you can. The big horse show at nights will be second to none in the whole country. You will want to see best riding and show animals in South. You can gratify your wish by coming to the horse show of the Sixteenth Annual Collin County fair that is soon to open in McKinney. Other things worth coming to see too.

An organization that deserves the unqualified sympathy and help of every citizen—man, woman or child—is the American Red Cross, "The World's Greatest Mother." The Collin County Chapter has functioned for nearly twenty years. Ex-County Superintendent W. S. Smith is president of it this year, and J. Ed Gibson is chairman of the Disaster Committee. These faithful officials very promptly took steps, after the Rio Grande Valley hurricane a few days ago, to raise funds for the relief of the victims and sent the money direct to the Southwestern Headquarters in St. Louis through Henry W. Warden, treasurer of our county chapter.

McKinney school property is taken care of in the right way. Its seven big school buildings—six brick and the big two story, eight room frame colored school, all have modern conveniences. Their caretakers also look after the school-grounds in a creditable way. The schools have neatly mown campuses, pretty growing shade trees and some of them are beautified with flowers and shrubbery. Civic attractiveness should feature every school building, because of its effect in the character formative period of the children, who should have always the ideals of beauty, neatness and pleasantness before them for example.

"When the home paper comes from Uvalde," said Speaker Jack Garner, "I step down from the chair and go into my private office and read the home paper and read it all. It generally comes on Monday morning, and I always take time and read it, for after all, there is no news like the home town news. We get fed up on the news of the world, political and otherwise, and it is refreshing to see what is going on back home. The local paper has an appeal all its own, and what may not be interesting to others has a special interest to those who know the folks. It's like making a trip back and getting a breeze of the real home atmosphere. I don't suppose you have a reader," says the Vice President, to his home town editor, H. P. Hornby of the Uvalde Leader, "who reads your paper more closely than I do." Every home town paper has more or less prominent friends and readers in the national and state capitals and other centers as well as in home territory. They never become so prominent or important that they don't continue to feel an interest and a longing for the old family, home-town, country weekly or daily newspaper.

Collin County Masons are proud of the distinction given them in the election of one of their members as Grand Master of the state. Judge Hughston is filling the role to perfection. He is a born Mason as his father, the veteran T. F. Hughston of Plano, has been before him for nearly seventy years, and, who has been for many years, a regular attendant at the Grand Lodge annual meetings. Judge Hughston is a pleasing and effective public speaker, whose addresses are being constantly sought after at various kinds of Masonic meetings and events from every part of the state. The Masonic Grand Lodge of Texas was organized in 1836, the same year that Texas won her independence from Mexico and established the Republic, which, ten years later, was admitted into the union as a state. During the ninety-seven year history of the Texas Grand Lodge, only ninety-seven Masons have been chosen to this, its highest honor. Texas has 254 counties, yet Collin has been twice honored with its most exalted position. The first one was Sam R. Hamilton, who was elected about forty years ago. The present incumbent, who is the second Collinite chosen from about 130,000 members of the order in the State, is a worthy successor in this long list of eminent citizens who have graced the office during its nearly 100-year existence.

DRY EDUCATION

In the little town of Allerton, Illinois, the beer sellers have given up a vain fight against dry education. In April, three Allerton places put in bars and waited for business. They waited for three months, their scant sales coming from out-of-town and then quit, declaring it was useless to try to sell enough beer to pay for the ice in their cooling boxes. Forty-five years ago the founder of Allerton had stipulated in giving eighty acres as a site that no saloons be permitted within the city limits. But when 3.2 beer was legalized, the wets, few but powerful, took the case to the Attorney General who ruled that Allerton could have beer sold within its city limits, since, as he claimed, 3.2 beer is not intoxicating. The beer came. It had the state's sanction. But the beer did not stay. And the why is a beautiful chapter which every Mr. and Mrs. John Citizen should ponder.

Doubtless, Harvey Bailey now realizes the truth uttered by Socrates, the old Greek philosopher, when he said, "Laws are not made for the good."

Local hunters are out every day now dove shooting since the season opened on Friday, September 1. Doves are fairly plentiful over the county. Many nimrods enjoy the sport of shooting them. Others refrain from killing doves from a sentiment that is instilled into many childish minds now and all through the past by mothers and fathers, who regard the gentle mournful cooing dove as a sort of sacred bird so referred to in the scriptures.

First paving to be laid in McKinney was on Monday afternoon, August 31, 1908. On that date paving with vitrified brick was commenced on the northwest corner of the public square in the presence of a crowd of representatives local citizens and taxpayers with Mayor J. L. Doggett doing the honors in laying the first brick. Howell E. Smith and J. L. Lovejoy also had a part in the innovation that has since resulted in giving McKinney nearly twenty miles of substantial paving in both its business and residential districts. H. A. L. Greenwood, photographer, still in business here, was present with his camera to make a picture of the epochal beginning. F. V. Cammack represented Ockander Bros., contractors of Waco, on the job. The brick were actually laid by a negro expert, whose rapidity as a craftsman, was lightning-like and the marvel of crowds that constantly watched him work until he had completed the brick laying on the public square and some of the adjacent streets leading out from the corners of the public square. McKinney has never regretted lifting herself out of the mud by the permanent street paving route. Street paving is an absolute essential to any town aspiring to grow into a modern city.

During the recent statewide campaign on the prohibition issue, Dr. Claude M. Simpson, pastor of the First Methodist church in McKinney, was chosen as county leader. He was surrounded by a small group of select, but experienced advisers to plan and prosecute the dry's campaign. Results should be gratifying to him and every other genuine well wisher for the cause of sobriety and clean, moral living. While the state as a whole voted heavily for the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and for legalizing the sale of 3.2 beer, our own county recorded its fidelity to prohibition by an overwhelming vote of nearly three-to-one. Opposition to bringing beer back in to the county bounds was registered almost as emphatically against the wets. Two great county-wide rallies were held here at the county seat. In the first one, Dr. George W. Truett, noted Baptist divine, was the key speaker. Later on, a still bigger rally was held at the city coliseum at which Dr. J. Frank Norris, the undaunted friend of prohibition and relentless foe of liquor, was the speaker. Every paper published in the county aggressively fought for the retention of prohibition. Consequently, Collin is the banner prohibition county of the state. We are constrained to believe that if the pros in other counties of the state had awakened to the task of defending prohibition all along the line as they did in this county a different story would have been told when the polls closed on the evening of August 26th.

An unusually interesting little book has fallen into our possession that we highly appreciate. "The History and Geography of Texas As Told In County Names" is its title. It was written by the late Judge Z. T. Fulmore, Fellow of the Texas State Historical Association. Its revised edition is by the author's son, S. R. Fulmore, publisher, Austin ;Texas. The basic and supplementary textbooks in use in our schools are admirable and sufficient. For them this "History and Geography of Texas As Told In County Names" furnishes a background that is badly needed, so we believe, in the study of Texas history. It likens the map of Texas to a large group of monuments with each county representing a monument. This little book furnishes a most complete, simple and fascinating story of Texas by its 254 sketches (one for each county), over 100 illustrations, its maps and genealogical tables and facsimiles of treaties that the Republic of Texas had with some of the leading nations of the world. The reader and student is enlightened in the most wholesome, practical and comprehensive manner. It will tend to unify and solidify the various sections of our empire state. The treatment by counties insures its completeness and comprehensiveness. The children of today will be the mature men and women of tomorrow. This book, if made available to our school children, would enshrine in their hearts and minds in this crucial, formative period of their characters, the sacred memories of the deeds of their ancestors who made possible the creation and development of this great state. Probably 2,000,000 Texas history books have been used in the various schools of the state. During the past twenty years there have been 4,000,000 pupils in the grades who would have been interested and benefited by this book as a reference in their student life. Yet, of all this number, not ninety per cent of them know anything about their own county history or the history of their adjoining counties. This book is worthy of a place on the bookshelf of every home in the state also in every public library and public school.

THE SMALL RURAL HOME.

Our former maximum in farm population, 32,076,000, was reached in 1910, but 1933 came in with a new maximum, 32,424,000.

What is usually called the back-to-the-farm movement has a new aspect in that it is now being considered, not as an effort to induce former farm-reared boys and girls to go back to farm life, but to remove city families into the country within easy automobile distance from whatever employment they may have or seek to secure.

The most practicable plan is to take a cultivable tract of three to five acres, build upon it a four or five-room bungalow, chicken house and necessary equipment for rendering it productive of food for family consumption and perhaps a little extra for sale, and then establish upon it a family now being supported by public relief because of unemployment. All this could be done within a cost of $3,000 for each and could be paid for by the family in amortized payments covering about fifteen years. This means an investment, and not the expenditure of money for mere relief work, no return from which is possible. The sooner families can be taken off the relief rolls and made at least partly self-sustaining, the more quickly the burden of caring for the unemployed will be lifted. This plan not only enables the new house owner to grow part of his food, but provides a good home for his family when he is out of work. He is not evicted for nonpayment of rent, nor is his water, gas or electric light cut off.

Every dollar now expended in direct relief, and much of the large sums being paid for unproductive and not self-sustaining work, is gone beyond recall, and the problem of self-support remains unsolved. Should the Federal Government and the several States devote a good portion of their relief funds to rehabilitation of this sort, it would seem that the need for temporary relief expenditures would decline and an insurance be provided against its return in the early future.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

AGENT RECEIVES $81,685 COTTON PLOW-UP CHECKS

A total of 504 cotton plow-up checks, amounting to $81,685, were received the past week-end by County Agent Jack McCullough for Collin farmers who participated in the plow up campaign, to reduce this year's acreage of the fleecy staple.

Already more than $200,000 has been received by Collin farmers as their part in the cotton acreage reduction program of the federal government. Between a third and fourth of the money, due farmers of this county, has already been received here.

Two batches of checks came in Sunday and two more Monday, according to Agent McCullough, who, with other workers, were busy Monday typing the names and posting them in the lobby of the courthouse. As soon as these names are posted and the individual farmers are notified, they are urged to come in and get their plow-up money.

Now is the time to plant, Alfalfa, Onion Seed, Rye Barley, Rape, Black Medic, Burr Clover, Turnip, Mustard, Spinach, Winter Lawn and permanent pasture mixtures. For your supplies see COLLIN COUNTY SEED CO.

Bishop Family Holds Reunion With 51 Present

Fifty-one descendants of the late Isaac T. and Permelia E. Bishop, gathered at Plano City park Sunday for the first reunion of this family in more than thirty years, some seeing each other for the first time. Mr. and Mrs. Bishop left their home in Virginia a few years after the Civil war, where he had served his home county as sheriff and tax collector, and as captain in the Confederate army, and located a few miles west of Plano near the Dallas-Collin county line and continued to make their home in this section during the remainder of their lifetime.

The reunion was called early in the day so that Sunday school could be had on the ground at the regular hour, after which a bountiful dinner was spread in old-time picnic style.

Most of the descendants of this pioneer couple reside in Dallas and adjoining counties, but some came from the western part of the state as well as Oklahoma. Of the eleven children born to Mr. and Mrs. Bishop, all reached the age of maturity, and the following sons and daughters still survive: Octavia Taylor, Archer City; C. L. Bishop, Plano; Mrs. Henry Baccus, Frisco; P. C. Bishop, Haslet; R. J. Bishop and Herbert Bishop, Richardson; Ray Bishop, Denton, also twenty-eight grandchildren and forty-eight great-grandchildren and two great-great grandchildren.—Plano Star-Courier.

My little girl has gone to school.

Your little girl will start to school.

WM. H. KERR AND MRS. VALDA LONG MARRIED HERE

A wedding, beautiful in its simplicity, was solemnized in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Kerr Saturday evening at 8 o'clock with William H. Kerr and Mrs. Valda Long of Fort Worth as the contracting parties.

The home was most beautifully decorated for the occasion with ferns, ivy and a profusion of zinnias and roses. The marriage vows were taken before an improvised altar, embanked with ferns and zinnias, where tall candles cast a soft glow over the impressive scene. John Edward Gay, little son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Gay, and nephew of the groom, lighted the candles, after which Mrs. Roy Largent gave a violin solo, "I Love You Truly." She also played the wedding march from Lohengrin. Dr. C. M. Simpson, pastor of the First Methodist church, officiated with the ring ceremony.

The bride, a beautiful and refined young woman, was most becoming in a fall frock of navy blue, her accessories matching. Following the ceremony, the bridal pair were honored with a supper by the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Kerr and his sisters, Mrs. Gay and Misses Annabel and Helen Kerr. They then left for a ten days' wedding trip to points in South Texas, after which they will be at home, 1216 Morgan street, Fort Worth.

The bride is a young woman possessing many sweet attributes of character. She is cultured and popular with her associates. She received her education in the Hillsboro school, graduating from the high school there. Until recently she has been holding a position in Fort Worth. A number of social affairs are being planned for her in Fort Worth.

The groom received his education in the public schools of Lampasas, Southern Methodist university at Dallas and Toby's Business college in Waco. For the past few years he has been located in Fort Worth, being associated with [illegible], dealers in [illegible] and office supplies at [illegible]. He is active in business and social circles of that city, being a member of the Kiwanis club and a Shriner. He and Dr. Simpson are friends of long standing, Mr. Kerr having been a member of his church when he was pastor at Wichita Falls. He is an ambitious young man, having many friends here, in Fort Worth and other points.

The many friends of the happy couple extend best wishes upon their marriage.

This office had a pleasant business call from W. F. Boyd of Lavon and acknowledge another year's subscription to The Daily Courier-Gazette. Mr. Boyd is an outstanding citizen of his section of the county and for many, many years, has been a reader of The Daily Courier-Gazette. This editor has known him for more than a quarter of a century. He is a farmer by profession and a money-maker. He is a liberal, enterprising citizen of his community and always stands for right, against wrong. We are very much pleased and thankful to Mr. Boyd for his renewal with us and his long personal friendship.

Mr. and Mrs. William Holcomb of Waxahachie visited McKinney friends Sunday. They were accompanied by his sister, Miss Jimmie Lou Holcomb. Another sister of this Waxahachie man accompanied them on out to Prosper where she will teach this year.

The children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren of the late Mr. and Mrs. Isaac T. Bishop, gathered at the City park in Plano, September 16, for a reunion for the first time in over thirty years. A large number of the family were present and all enjoyed a wonderful time.

If you want to GET RID of Constipation worries—

Any hospital offers evidence of the harm done by harsh laxatives that drain the system, weaken the bowel muscles, and in some cases even affect the liver and kidneys.

A doctor will tell you that the unwise choice of laxatives is a common cause of chronic constipation. Fortunately, the public is fast returning to the use of laxatives in liquid form.

A properly prepared liquid laxative brings a perfect movement. There is no discomfort at the time and no weakness after. You don't have to take "a double dose" a day or two later.

In buying any laxative, always read the label. Not the claims, but the contents. If it contains one doubtful drug, don't take it.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a prescriptional preparation in which there are no mineral drugs. Its ingredients are on the label. By using it, you avoid danger of bowel strai You can keep the bowels regula and comfortable; you can mak constipated spells as rare as cold

Collin County Fair Notes

Meet your friends at the sixteenth annual Collin County Free fair in McKinney next week.

September 25, 26, 27 and 28 are the dates for what promises to be the biggest fair in the history of Collin county.

The biggest free county fair in the United States—is no idle boast of Collin county fair officials. Out-of-town visitors often compare it with district and even state fairs.

Keep this in mind: It is your fair. What are you doing to add to its success? Bring in your exhibits and carry off some of the cash premiums and ribbons.

Approximately 100 out-of-county horses from several states will be here during the three-night horse show on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights, September 25, 26 and 27. The horse show will no doubt prove the biggest in the Southwest this year. Premium money has been doubled over last year. Seating arrangements have been enlarged, the arena put in A-1 condition, and the officials announce everything in readiness for this third annual horse show.

A few of the horse show officials responsible for this year's show are: W. A. Massie, superintendent of the live stock division; Joe H. Wilcox, superintendent of the horse show; Tom M. Scott, secretary; Dan Scott, in charge of the pony division for 'Collin County Night' and other local horse fanciers.

President A. H. Eubanks, Secretary W. Hammond Moore and other officials of the fair are sparing neither time nor effort in making this the best fair in the history of this county.

The coliseum will be crowded with interesting exhibits—products grown in the black, waxy land of Collin county. The agricultural, horticultural, canning, sewing, poultry and the live stock exhibits will be well worth your time in coming many miles to see.

Carnival attractions will be provided by the Southern Amusement company a unit of the Wortham shows.

Again this year a feature of the fair will be the exhibits of the women's home demonstration clubs over the county. Miss Helen Dunlap, the efficient county home demonstration club agent, is working up interest in this line while County Farm Agent Jack P. McCullough's 4-H club boys will also have an interesting exhibit. Prof. J. T. (Doc) Rollins and his vocational agricultural classes of the McKinney High school and Prof. Sandell and his vocational agriculture boys of Farmersville High school are expecting to have exhibits.

Judge E. B. Muse died in Dallas the other day. He was for nearly thirty years a judge in that city. He was a man of profound learning and knowledge, an excellent lawyer and an able advocate who was universally esteemed in his home city. He was quite well known in McKinney and, during the passage of years, occasionally came here to attend court. He was a relative of Hon. J. M. and Mort W. Muse, both of this city. He is survived by a brother, Judge J. C. Muse, and other relatives of Dallas. He loved his fellow men and [illegible]

YOUR HOME TOWN

MUZZLE OLD TOWSER.

The timely warning of Chief J. S. McKinney that all McKinney dogs must either be kept confined on one's premises or else muzzled, if permitted to roam about town, deserves the wholehearted co-operation of each individual residing in the city. For the past several weeks, there have been reports coming from various Texas cities—McKinney is no exception—of rabid dogs wandering over town and, on many occasions, biting defenseless children and grown-ups. Just the other day, Chief McKinney sent off a dog's head to Austin for examination for rabies after the animal had bitten a little child. When the safety of our people is concerned, we should all co-operate to the fullest extent with our public officials, who are trying to protect each and every-one of us. We are not implying that dog owners must get rid of their animals, but we should keep Old Towser or Bruno in the back yard or else go down town and buy him a nice new muzzle if he is permitted to roam high, wide and handsome over town.

BUSINESS IS BETTER.

"Business has certainly been on the increase since school started two weeks ago," said a McKinney business woman the other day. These kiddies are buying all kinds of supplies—school clothes, pencils, tablets, notebooks, etc., and, of course, Mother has to buy a little extra from the grocer every day to prepare special lunches for healthy appetites. With more than 2,000 boys and girls in school here every day, it is impossible for business not to show definite signs of pick-up.

FINE HORSES.

The boast made by local horse fanciers that the horse show at the county fair here will be one of the most spectacular in the Southwest is no idle boast. On any one of the three nights of that event, Sept. 25, 26 and 27, you will be amazed at the array of fine steeds paraded before your eyes. You may sit back and enjoy the thought that you are witnessing some of the finest horses the Southwest has to offer.

BOX SEATS ON SALE.

Box seat sale went on sale this morning at the Smith Drug company, under direction of Jimmie Belden. Installation of boxes at the live stock arena this year is an innovation of the horse show. There will be sixty-two boxes, of six seats each, and many Collin county horse lovers have really made a grand rush to reserve one of these boxes. If you don't care for a box, then next week, you can get any number of reserved seats you want which will go on sale next week.

PUBLIC-SPIRITED.

It is remarkable that so many prominent men in our home town and county are willing to devote so many hours daily working for the fair and horse show. Pres. A. H. Eubanks told us this week that the fair was consuming hour after hour of every fair official's time—but, he added, that time and effort is being gladly donated for such a worthy purpose. Of such are successful fairs made. It is little wonder that the Collin County Free fair keeps going forward year after year.

BOOSTERS.

Every hour in the day you can see those horses show officials here and there boosting the horse show. The same holds true for workers in every other fair department. In the live stock division one finds such men as Joe H. Wilcox, W. A. Massie, Tom M. Scott, Dan Scott, Fitzhugh Newsome and many others 'telling the world' about the fine horse show we are to have this year.

THEY'RE ALL BUSY.

Dan Scott is one of the busiest men in our city—not that he isn't always busy, for his duties as manager of the Southland Ice company keep him on the go all the time. But, he has been placed in charge of the boys' and girls' pony division, which will feature the first night of the horse show—Collin county night. He is being ably assisted by Ray Ashley. They report that there'll be an abundance of young riders from every community in the county here the first night of the fair, bringing their steeds to compete for the handsome prizes offered winners in every division. All kiddies in the county having a pony are urged to see either Messrs. Scott or Ashley, and find out what class they are to ride in. Won't there be a lot of proud fathers and mothers, brothers, sisters, uncles, aunts, friends and neighbors in the stands to cheer them as they ride proudly around the well-lighted live stock arena, which will be in tip-top shape for this event.

260 acres of good land for $50 per acre. Once would have sold for $200. Some bargain, believe us. THE McKINNEY REALTY COMPANY HAS IT FOR SALE.

Walker.

Born In Tennessee.

James Patrick Nenney was born January 11, 1841, in Jefferson county, Tennessee, but since has become a part of Hamblin county, that state. His father was an Irishman and died when the son was about six years old. His mother lived to be ninety-two years old. When he was about grown, but before he was twenty, Mr. Nenney joined a company of four other emigrants, Texas bound. They came in a large two horse spring wagon and spent forty-two days in making the journey from their old Tennessee home to their new Texas home here at McKinney where they arrived May 4, 1860. His friends on this long, tiresome journey through woodland, sparsely settled prairies and unknown region to them, were: Jake Bewley, Joe Doak, Will Nenney (his brother) and John Taylor.

Joined Texas Rangers.

On May 5, 1860, the day following his arrival in McKinney, he became a member of Capt. Gabe Fitzhugh's company of Texas rangers that was being organized and left immediately with that company of rugged frontiersmen for West Texas. Capt. Fitzhugh's company was one of seven such armed units strung out from Fort Belknap, across the western part of the state just far enough apart to maintain a patrol between them, thereby preventing Indians from passing through and coming eastward to depredate upon the white settlements. He was mustered out of the Ranger service in the following October at Fort Belknap and returned to McKinney. Almost immediately after returning to McKinney, he was offered the position of clerkship in the McKinney postoffice under the postmastership of Abe Lowery. Mr. Nenney had a fairly good education for that early date, wrote a good hand and had been clerk of the Ranger company of which he had, at the time of his death, a complete roster in his own handwriting and by which he was able, a few years ago, to get the federal government to suitably pension the few survivors who fought back the Indians in the period preceding the Civil war in protecting the frontiers of this part of the South against the savages.

Confederate Soldier.

His experience as a ranger in military life coupled with the urge of patriotism, caused him to resign his position as Assistant Postmaster at McKinney within less than a year to enter the Confederate service. This time he enlisted in Company K, Sixth Texas Cavalry, organized by James W. Throckmorton of McKinney, who was, in 1866, elected Governor of Texas. Mr. Nenney made a brave and loyal soldier, remaining with that company in active, strenuous service on the battlefronts of the South during the four years of bloody warefare that ensued. At the close of the Civil war, with the surrender of General Lee to General Grant at Appomattox, he was mustered out and again returned to McKinney to resume his interrupted business career in civil life. After clerking in stores, managing and running lumber yards and engaging in mercantile pursuits for himself, he made a fairly good success in the business world.

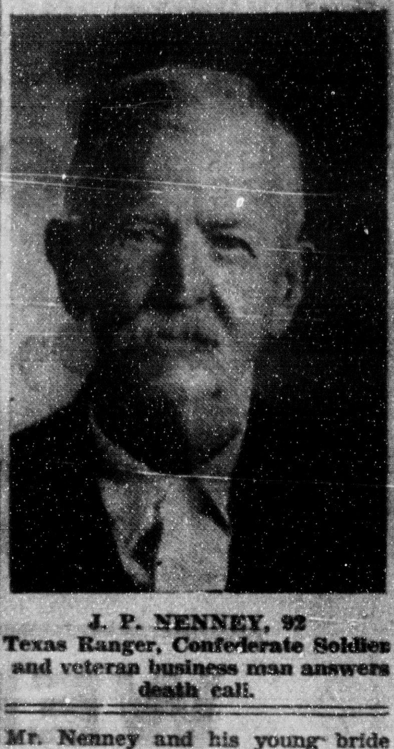
Married In 1876.

Mr. Nenney was married November 8, 1876, to Miss Fannie Waddell at Jefferson, Texas, where his bride was making her home with an uncle and an aunt, Mr. and Mrs. William Yates. She was a sister of Mrs. J. L. White of this city and a niece of the late Mrs. J. D. [illegible] Sr. and [illegible]

SEVENTY-THREE YEARS McKINNEY RESIDENT



J. P. NENNEY, 92
Texas Ranger, Confederate Soldier and veteran business man answers death call.

Mr. Nenney and his young bride went to housekeeping at a location on the southeast corner of the public square occupied by the A. & P. grocery. At the time of his marriage, Mr. Nenney and the late Capt. R. M. Board were engaged in the mercantile business at that location. Mr. Nenney later bought two acres of land, that was then in a cotton field, on which he built a home and went to reside in 1878. He later built the large two-story home in which he died. When he bought the land for a home, a large hewed log house stood on the property, its location being at a point on North Church street running in front of the Nenney home at the present time in which he died. Mr. Nenney was in partnership with Dr. D. T. Pardue in the firm name of Nenney & Pardue, operating a lumber yard in McKinney for several years; also in operating an electric light and ice plant. Mr. Nenney later engaged in the leather, harness and saddle business and in his latter years devoted his attention to running farm land near McKinney.

Loyal to His Church.

Mr. Nenney was reared a Presbyterian in faith. But, after coming to McKinney, there being no Presbyterian church here then, he joined the Christian church into which communion he was baptized at the same time with the late Jesse Shain, capitalist of McKinney, and the late Judge M. H. Garnett. The First Presbyterian church was organized in McKinney, September 27, 1874. Not knowing the church was to be organized at the time, he failed to come into it until the following Sunday, October 4, at which time he placed his membership in that church whose pastor was Rev. W. K. Marshall, D. D., and of which church Dr. Robert L. Cowan is the present pastor. In February, 1931, Mr. Nenney was presented with a Sunday school pin with two bars representing fifty years of faithful church, Sunday school and prayer meeting attendance. During that long time he missed only a single Sunday and that was on account of illness. He liberally supported the church with his means, giving more than his tithe. Perhaps his record has never been equaled in McKinney for long, unbroken attendance upon church, Sunday school and prayer meeting which he kept up until a year or two ago when the decrepitude of advancing age made it physically impossible for him to any longer attend. Dr. J. C. Erwin Sr., Robert D. Erwin, Scotty Forsyth and older members of the church, credit Mr. Nenney with practically carrying the First Presbyterian church during the first half of its existence. He was a deacon and an elder throughout his connection with this church.

His Survivors.

Mr. Nenney was the last of a family of five brothers and sisters to pass away. Besides the devoted wife, by whose side he had walked in matrimony for fifty-seven years, Mr. Nenney is survived by the following children: Claude G. Nenney, St. Louis; W. Francis Nenney, an oil field operator of Tyler, Texas; Mrs. W. J. Ferguson, Sherman; Mrs. J. B. Wilson, McKinney, and Mrs. George A. Stevens of Kilgore. Two sons, J. P. Nenney Jr. and Milton Nenney, preceded their father to the grave. He is also survived by seven grandchildren.

For nearly ninety-three years, Mr. Nenney lived a life of worthy citizenship. In young manhood he braved the hazards of soldier life on the Indian frontier for the protection of the hearthstones of this country. For four long weary years he fought in the ranks on bloody battlefields [illegible] above life itself. In the business realm, he lent himself assiduously to the task of providing the necessities for his loved ones and the education of his children; for the support of public schools, and the building up of churches and to bring about more righteous community life. He was a man of much reading, high honor but of modest demeanor who preferred keeping step with the masses to ambition for leadership and the limelight of publicity. His last act was signing a bank check which was turned over on the day of his death for support of his beloved church in carrying on the work of his Lord's Kingdom in which he so long had labored. He fearlessly faced death with the christian's hope and perfect confidence that all was well with his soul as it was speeding from its tenement of clay to the realm where old age and sorrow never come.

JUDGE ANDREWS INSPECTS STATE CAPITOL BUILDING

McKINNEY MAN CHAIRMAN STATE BOARD OF PARDONS

Judge T. C. Andrews of McKinney, who was recently appointed a member and president of the state board of pardons and paroles by Gov. Ferguson, has taken time off from his duties there to closely inspect our state capitol building. Judge Andrews is a close observer and wields a capable pen in telling about what he sees or what he thinks. In a recent letter to the McKinney papers, the judge has the following to say about our magnificent state capitol building at Austin:

All Texans should feel proud of their state capitol. It was built in the "eighties" and dedicated in May, 1888. But fifty years has made little change in its appearance.

It is 560 feet long, and 288 feet wide. Two of its wings are three stories above the basement and two of its wings are four stories above the basement. The dome rises to a height of 311 feet. Its walls are of native granite, and like the noble deeds of our Texas heroes and martyrs will endure through the ages to come.

The capitol's granite walls ought to be as enduring as the old Egyptian Pyramids, but even then not as enduring as the spirit of the Alamo and San Jacinto.

As one enters at the main entrance on the south, he sees on the right the life size painting of Davy Crockett, and on the left a large painting of Houston and his army at San Jacinto with Santa Anna in captivity. A life-size statue of Sam Houston and Stephen F. Austin stand on either side of the entrance of the rotunda. Also at the entrance of the rotunda there is incased in glass the original Declaration of Independence of Texas, which was written by George C. Childress, March 2, 1836.

We Tennessee-Texans feel a little "puffed-up" when we are reminded that Davy Crockett, Sam Houston and George C. Childress were all Tennessee-Texans. We should be pardoned if we pray that prayer the old Scotch-Presbyterian often prayed: "O Lord, give us a good opinion of ourselves." Local pride is sometimes excusable. A lady at a social gathering at Denver some years ago asked the gathering why it was that the most intellectual and cultured people in the world came from Boston. No one of the crowd would venture a guess, but one of them asked the lady where she was from. She replied, "from Boston, of course."

It is very thrilling to look upon the large portraits of all the governors that adorn the walls of the rotunda and recall the stirring events that took place under each respective administration. The foregoing scenes are calculated to inspire those who view them with more love for those ideals for which Houston fought and Crockett died.

T. C. Gentle and Miss Edna Franklin, young couple of the Rhea Mills community, were united in marriage Saturday night at the home of Rev. G. C. Ford, Rev. Ford officiating. They will make their home in the Rhea Mills community.

Mrs. Edward White died at the home of Joe Riley of Blue Ridge at 9 a. m. Sunday, Sept. 17.

Mrs. White, at the time of her death, was 87 years and 9 months old. She came to the Blue Ridge community with her husband, Edward White, forty years ago. She is survived by eight children, seven of whom live near Blue Ridge and one daughter, who lives in De Queen, Ark.

She was buried in the Blue Ridge cemetery Monday, Sept. 18, with Rev. Roberts, pastor of the Baptist church at Blue Ridge, officiating.

THE GOOD SOLDIER.

When a nation goes to war there are only two classes of people within the territory of the warring nation: Friends and enemies. I have had my opinions about the methods of attack, but that we are in what may reasonably be compared to war has been admitted by all. And so, I have signed up with the NRA. This means, as in all cases of war, that the soldier in the ranks has no right to think out loud while the army is in action. It is his business only to obey orders. So I am for my country, right or wrong. I don't know where I am going, but I feel safe in betting a 10c gingercake against a wooden toothpick that I will get there. If we get licked we will all go down together. I am an American first, before anything else, and must take my chances of living or dying, physically and financially, as an American. The army, under the direction of the commander in chief is in action, and if the general makes a mistake we all have to take the consequences.

C. A. SANSOM KILLED AT PLANO BY INTERURBAN

C. A. Sansom, 23, was instantly killed in Plano Thursday morning when struck by an interurban. According to Motorman Gibson, the man was standing near the interurban track as the car approached and with the car warning, bell ringing, suddenly launched forward; falling face forward across the track. His body was almost severed when run over by the car. Justice of the Peace Erwin Craus of McKinney went down to the scene of the accident and conferred with Deputy Sheriff Olinger and other Plano officers.

It is reported that Sansom had acted nervous for several days previous to the accident and had told friends that some one was after him to kill him.

Sansom was recently tried in county court here on a lunacy charge. A short time later he was tried on the same charge in local courts, when relatives and physicians declared that his condition was improved and he was released. He was twenty-three years old, married and lived between Allen and Plano.

COLLIN COUNTY SHOULD HELP STORM VICTIMS

Prof. W. S. Smith, president of the Collin County Red Cross chapter, expresses some surprise that the people of our city and county have not responded more promptly and liberally than they have in voluntarily contributing to the relief of the West India hurricane sufferers in the Rio Grande valley.

The storm was terrific. More than twenty-five lives were lost. Eight thousand people were left homeless. Crop and property destruction was very heavy. Citrus fruit was largely damaged, some totally destroyed. The American Red Cross throughout the country is leading in the relief work. It has appealed to Collin county for $200 or $300 cash donations. Prof. Smith says it looks like there should be that many people in our great county numbering nearly 50,000 population, who would at least contribute a dollar each and have a part in this sore need.

Any one wishing to donate any amount large or small may do so by handing it or mailing it to either one of the McKinney newspapers or to Henry W. Warden, county Red Cross treasurer.

J. Ed Gibson, chairman of the disaster committee of the Red Cross chapter, joins Prof. Smith in urging people to respond. Surely you can spare a dollar which will be gladly accepted. If you want to make it more and feel that you can spare it give it. It is a very worthy and urgent call.

Prof. Smith says that he and other county Red Cross chapter officers hope that Collin county's quota can be raised without making a systematic canvass of the town and county for funds. The amount is modest and should not require a personal canvass or solicitation to secure it.

BABY SON OF DR. HILL METZ ON FIRST VISIT

Dr. Max Hill Metz, wife and baby son, Morgan Hill Metz, born December 26, 1932, are greatly enjoying their visit to their relatives and old home friends here at McKinney for a few days. Young Dr. Metz is serving his interneship in a big hospital at Cincinnati where he will be located for about another year, after which he will locate at some desirable place for the practice of his profession for which he has thoroughly qualified himself. He is a son of Mrs. Annie Metz and a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Hill, a respected old McKinney couple. His young wife was formerly Miss Dorothy Bell of this city, a niece of Mr. and Mrs. George Reinhardt with whom she lived. She was educated at the Southern Methodist University, Dallas. This visit is the first time that the numerous friends and McKinney relatives have had the opportunity of seeing their fine little nine months old baby son, M. H. Metz Jr., and believe us the latter is the chief center of attraction wherever his parents take him.

Mrs. C. B. Mixon has received word of the death of her nephew, Curtis Faulkner, who died in a Wichita Falls hospital Friday, following an operation for appendicitis, to which he submitted. The young man was a son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Faulkner of Bellevue.

Improvement

......Reflected In All Fair Exhibits

Fairs are worthy enterprizes! Their purpose is not merely to reveal the advancements wrought by science and experimentation, but to lead to the adoption of these improvements as benefits in every home, on every farm in every business. That's why Progressive Texans look forward to the Collin County Fair as a place to learn of improvements.

Since Texans like to see improvements, we think it not amiss to tell in this same spirit a few of the outstanding improvements in Gas Appliances. In refrigeration, air-cooling of the Electrolux is considered the greatest advance in automatic refrigeration. In cooking, the insulated oven with automatic heat control is an improvement any housewife will praise. In heating, circulating warm air from one of the improved types of heaters is a noteworthy advance for healthful warmth. During your visit to the Fair why not see these and other improvements in Gas Appliances at any McKinney Appliance Dealer or your Gas Company? It will be interesting to find out just how much Natural Gas Service can add to your comfort.

HARRIS FUNERALS IN EVERY NEIGHBORHOOD

A large number of families in McKinney and surrounding territory would never think of calling any one else, but Harris for funerals.

These families are located far and near but Harris' service does away with the question of distance because they have the equipment and "KNOW HOW."

These families know that a "funeral by Harris" is the deepest proof of their final devotion. It is this large number of families that has made Harris' service so thoroughly established.

Harris' funerals are famous for their unusual arrangement and direction and are unsurpassed in service and equipment. They are evidently different and satisfying.

So no matter where you live or your distance away, call Harris, of-course!

There will be no regrets.

REV. J. A. GAINES PASTOR THREE COLLIN CHURCHES

We are greatly pleased to add the name of Rev. J. A. Gaines, route 2, Allen, to the Weekly Democrat - Gazette subscription list. Rev. Mr. Gaines lives in the Presbyterian pastor's home at Parker of which church he is half-time pastor. He devotes one-fourth of his time as pastor of the Walnut Grove Presbyterian church and the other fourth to the pastorate of the Melissa church. The Parker Presbyterian Church U. S. A. is one of the strongest country churches in this county and is surrounded by one of the choicest citizenships to be found anywhere. His Walnut Grove church is one of the oldest and most historical in Collin county. Melissa is also a fine field and citizenship in which to labor, so Mr. Gaines finds it.

Walnut Grove church was the religious center of West Collin in the earlier history of our county. The late Capt. W. A. Rhea was at one time a school teacher there in his young manhood. His brother, J. C. Rhea, was also a stalwart citizen and supporter of the church at Walnut Grove for many years. For a long time it was the custom of this church to hold annual camp meetings lasting two or three weeks. Great crowds attended the services both day and night and many pioneer families made their camp on the grounds and remained there during the entire time of the meeting. Numerous eminent preachers of the south have held meetings at Walnut Grove. Numerous widely-known men and women among the earlier settlers were converted and joined the church at those meetings.

The cemetery at Walnut Grove is yet one of the chief burying grounds of the county. Indeed, Rev. Mr. Gaines says "I am the pastor of some of the finest people in the world at the three community centers in which I labor."

SLATON RESIDENTS ARE SPENDING WEEK-END IN McKINNEY

Mrs. Will Donald, Mrs. R. E. Porter and little daughter, Alice Elizabeth, Mr. and Mrs. Buster Donald, all of Slaton, are here for the week-end with Mrs. Donald's brother, A. L. Cole, and her sister, Mrs. W. A. Bevil and families. They came for the purpose of attending the marriage of Miss Maxie Poteet of Slaton to Bee Turner of this city, which will take place at 6 o'clock this afternoon at the home of Rev. F. B. Jackson, who will officiate.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. C. Blassingame of Slaton, and a sister of Mrs. Buster Donald. The groom is a son of Mrs. Edna Pearl Taylor of this city. He is employed by the Texas Textile mill.

Mrs. Porter, who was formerly Miss Iris Donald, and Buster Donald, are children of Mrs. Will Donald. JAMES WILCOX RESIGNS HIS BANK POSITION

James Wilcox, son of Judge and Mrs. F. E. Wilcox, has resigned his position with the Central State bank of this city, to accept a position with the Wilcox Lumber company. James tells us he regrets to leave the bank, as he liked the work and those with whom he was thrown in contact but that the change was made at the request of his father who thought that his services were needed at the lumber yard.

James Wilcox is one of McKinney's finest, most capable young business men, who has a host of friends here and elsewhere over the county, who wish him continued success and good fortune in the business world. The grandfather, James M. Wilcox, of James Jr., founded the Wilcox Lumber company, more than a half century ago. Judge Frank E. The Golden Harvest Season

Texas fields are yielding up their golden harvest. Joy is in the land. Fields echo with the songs of folks gathering their crops.

And Fair time is here too. Farms, factories, gardens and homes bring forth their choicest products to display at the fairs. There is much of friendly rivalry between neighbors. Good ideas are exchanged, and Fair season will leave each individual better equipped for his particular work because of the things learned at the Fair.

The Texas Power & Light Company rejoices with the people at harvest time, for this Company feels that it has had a definite part in each accomplishment of the people whom it serves. Each year brings new jobs for electric service. Electricity daily plays a more important part in the lives of the people. It is used more in the home, the factory, the store, the office and on the farm.

The purpose of the Texas Power & Light Company is to provide electric service so that any customer can press an electric button at any time of the day or night and get light or power in any desired amount, as free as humanly possibly from interruptions.

JOE H. WILCOX, SUPERINTENDENT OF HORSE SHOW, IS ENTHUSIASTIC OVER PROSPECTS FOR SUCCESSFUL SHOW

Joe H. Wilcox, president of the annual Collin county horse show, which will again feature the free county fair expressed himself Saturday as being very enthusiastic about the success of that annual three-night event this year—the dates being Sept. 25, 26 and 27—first three nights of the fair. "We are given every reason to believe that the crowd this year will be much larger than the one present last year," he said. "We have been putting out the programs throughout North Texas and Herschel Kerby has been unusually active in this respect, making a canvass of this part of the state in the interest of the show." Large numbers of visitors, as well as horses, are expected here for the show from Dallas, Fort Worth, Sherman, Denison, Paris, Greenville, Gainesville, Denton and other North Texas cities.

Some of the finest horses in the Southwest will be here and it is a rare opportunity for horse lovers of the Southwest to be able to come to McKinney and view these animals.

The arena this year will be in better condition than ever before, being well graded and well lighted, with approximately 2,000 reserved seats, including sixty-two boxes on the east and west sides of the arena.

Other reserved seats will go on sale next week. All seats are elevated this year, including the grandstand and the bleachers. There will also be standing room.

Mr. Wilcox is expecting twice as many fine show horses to enter this year as last, and they, no doubt, will be enthusiastically viewed by thousands during the three nights of the show.

A. H. (Hardy) Eubanks, president of the Collin County Free fair, and wife; Tom M. Scott, secretary of the county fair horse how, wife and daughter, Miss Shirley, were Dallas visitors Friday night, visiting several stables and looking over some of the fine horses which will be brought to the Collin county fair three-night horse show. While in Dallas, they visited the Hilltop, Horseshoe and Lewis stables. They were well pleased with the animals they saw and gratified that some of the finest of these are coming here. While down there they saw the famous "Black Diamond," Collin county animal, owned by Ed Cashon, which is at the Hilltop stables.

Claude ("Sleepy") Poe, former Austin college football star and well-known coach and southwestern football official, passed through McKinney Saturday morning. While here he stopped to meet up with McKinney friends. This editor has long known Mr. Poe, formerly being in school with him at Austin college. He informed us that McKinney is to be congratulated on the fine stadium and electrically-lighted football plant that we now boast. There is no place in the state of Texas that he likes to visit better than McKinney. In fact, he said, that he and other officials always look forward to coming to McKinney to officiate, meeting up with local fans and sportsmanlike teams that are always turned out here.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Willis have returned from Comanche, Oklahoma, where they visited the latter's brother, Eugene Stover, and wife and saw for the first time that couple's new infant babe. They were accompanied to Comanche by J. A. Stover of Frisco, father of Mrs. Willis and of Eugene Stover. Mrs. J. A. Stover, who had been visiting her son and wife at Comanche for some time returned with her husband, son-in-law and daughter to her home at Frisco.

Hon. W. R. Abernathy and A. M. Scott were in Austin Monday. [illegible]
